Traffic and drugs concern residents

Raids net drugs here

Eleven persons face drug-related charges after two raids at homes in Mitchell yesterday. The raids were conducted by the Madison County Sheriff's Department, the Illinois State Police, the Illinois Bureau of Investigation, Madison and East Alton police and Granite City police detectives.

Drugs with a street value exceeding $5,000 were recovered from the two homes. The drugs were believed stolen from Glimp's Drug Store and the adjoining office of Dr. Norman Taylor, both in East Alton, during burglaries there early Wednesday morning.

Some drugs bearing the drug store's identification and some blank checks from Dr. Taylor's office were recovered in the first raid, it was reported.

Authorities received information alleging that stolen drugs were in the home of Randall Parker, 18, of 420 Tennessee Ave., Mitchell.

They believed the drugs had been taken from the Reese Drug Store in Madison in a burglary which was reported Monday. That report turned out to be false.

An undercover deputy sheriff went to the home in street clothing at noon yesterday and talked to several people at that address. He reported seeing prescription medication in view of the doorway.

The agent then reported his findings and a raid followed.

Arrested there were: Parker, charged with unlawful possession of a controlled substance; Bruce Wyatt, 20, of 2424 Sheridan Ave., charged with unlawful possession of a syringe and burglary; Connie Koesterer, 19, of 50 Cambridge Court, charged with unlawful possession of a controlled substance; Kathi Keuenhoff, 18, of 2655 Benton St., charged with unlawful possession of a syringe; and Peter Nichols, 19, of 2339 Pontoon Road charged with unlawful possession of a controlled substance.

All were taken to the Madison County Jail.

At 6:30 p.m. yesterday, authorities acted on additional information they had obtained and raided the home of Richard A. Stemmer, 19, of 611 Fleming Place, Mitchell, arresting four more persons after additional drugs and medication were found there, it was reported.

Charged with unlawful possession of a controlled substance were: Stemmer; David Hill, 20, 1310 Twenty-second St.; Terry Cowan, 21, of 1620 Lenox Place, Mitchell; and Richard Curtis, 20, of Duplo. Hill also was charged with burglary. After police had placed the four in a deputy's auto, two young men approached in a car and said they wanted to talk to Stemmer, it was alleged. Deputies alleged they detected the odor of glue and checked the auto.

Inside the car, they allege they found glue and apparatus for sniffing glue. Charged with unlawful use of an intoxicating substance were Charles F. Valle, 20, of 4310 Kirkpatrick Homes, and Norman D. Smith, 23, of Rural Route One, Box 99. Officers checked the two and alleged finding a loaded .38-caliber pistol in Valle's foot.

ADDRESSING CHAMBER DINNER Monday night at Holy Trinity Hall in Madison was Edward F. Reiske, executive director of the Chamber of Commerce of the Tri-Cities. About 125 Chamber members, guests and friends attended the annual event to review progress and discuss goals of the local Chamber of Commerce and its committees.

GC harbor discussions

The Tri-City Regional Port and Bi-State Agency Terminal—the northern and southern sections of the Granite City public wharf and harbor area near the south end of the eight-mile Chain of Rocks Canal—both were the subject of public discussions this week.

The Bi-State Development Agency board at a meeting Monday afternoon adopted a resolution expressing interest in expanding dock and warehouse activities here to accommodate the St. Louis Terminals Corp. and the Agricultural Chemical Division of Olin Corp.

At a meeting this afternoon of the Port Task Force of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, a subcommittee was to outline proposals under which regional coordination of Illinois and Missouri port and harbor facilities could be implemented.

Depending on what course of action is decided on by the task force, the topic may be dealt with by East-West's Executive Advisory Committee Aug. 26 and the East-West board of directors on Sept. 11.

The Aug. 26 and Sept. 11 agendas also may include consideration of a proposed "memorandum of understanding" between East-West and the Bi-State Agency. The memorandum is interpreted by some as vesting nearly unlimited authority in Bi-State to direct regional port.

Forum by Chamber

Traffic, congestion, drug abuse, industrial-commercial expansion, sanitary and storm-water sewer lines, street-lighting, day-overpass facilities, college services and restrictive legislation are among the chief concerns of Quad-Cityans, discussions showed Monday evening.

A gathering of 125 was participating in the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce second annual accountability meeting, held at Holy Trinity Hall, Madison.

President Chester L. Baker opened the meeting and later received warm praise from several speakers for his role in revitalizing the Chamber program during the past two years.

Moderator was Edward F. Reiske, Chamber executive vice-president. Committee chairmen submitted verbal reports and then responded to questions from the audience.

A Crime Prevention and Control Committee report by Warren Decatur outlined progress in speeding court procedures and in encouraging bicyclist safety.

Drugs remain prevalent, and efforts so far to curb young people's interest in illegal use of controlled substances have been largely unsuccessful, Decatur related.

Richard Kersch, chairman of the Chamber's committee on highways and transportation, noted that construction has begun on installing new intersection lanes and signals at six major intersections here, and that there is a Sept. 16 bid opening for improving the Nameeki-Johnson-Felling Roads intersection, where left turns will be provided.

Progress also is being made in improving the Nameeki Road intersections with Jill Avenue, St. Clair Avenue and Pontoon Road, he related.

In addition, an agreement is being worked out under which there will be adequate traffic signals at the Nameeki Road-Jill Avenue area near the "X" Cross Roads shopping center, Kersch said.

Plan 1, green lights are to be added to the red-yellow signals at 29th and State streets, 201st and Benton streets and West 25th Street and Missouri Avenue.

Also scheduled for traffic signals is the West Pontoon Road area intersecting Route 7 and Route 151, Kersch said.

Carl E. Mathias, industrial development chairman, stressed the importance of each resident fostering a positive image of the Quad-Cities and its manufacturing-construction-retail activity.

A detailed review by C. E. Blankenship of pending legislation showed concern over the extent to which federal and state governments are removing decision-making authority from business corporations.

After the EPA has approved or changed the rate schedule, the city council still will have to approve it before it can become effective.

City Clerk Robert W. Stevens said this week that his office is prepared to print the $5.10 bills and to make any adjustments in the rates on the following bill, if necessary.

Changes are possible, particularly because of complaints from industry of rate increases as high as 240 per cent.

One large industrial user is considering constructing its own sewers and sewage treatment plant, rather than pay the higher rates, it has been indicated. If that should happen, the rates for all other users would increase in order to pay the bonds sold for treatment plant construction.

The city has sold $4,100,000 worth of bonds, which includes $3,085,000 to construct and maintain the plant and $1,015,000 to pay off bonds on the present primary treatment plant.

These children were among about 75 who were honored Tuesday by Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk, Fire Chief Eldon Rhoads and Andy Economy of Lee & Andy's for work the children did in painting fire plugs and trash containers with cartoon characters. The youngsters received certificates and silver dollars. Their supervisor in the program, Mrs. Shirley Greer, is in the third row, right of center. At far left is Mayor Sasyk and at the right rear are Chief Rhoads and Economy.

Sewer bills Schools will open Monday, Tuesday soon

While still awaiting approval by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency and the Granite City Council, the city clerk's office is preparing to send out $5.10 quarterly sewerage treatment bills to residential sanitary sewer users. Subject to revision, the new rates became effective Aug. 1.

The $5.10 bills will be 88.9 per cent higher than the $2.70 quarterly bills which have been sent to homeowners for several years. They will be sent out Oct. 31 and should be received about Nov. 1.

The increase is to offset the costs of building and maintaining the city's $11 million secondary sewage treatment plant, which is under construction on the Granite City Army Installation property. The plant is expected to be in operation by early next year.

The treatment rate schedule still is subject to revision by the EPA and word of approval or change is expected by the city soon.

Hospital sisters honored

Sister M. Marce and Sister M. Theodore of St. Elizabeth Hospital have celebrated their Golden Jubilee at a special luncheon at the Sisters of Divine Providence Motherhouse in St. Louis.

Sister Marce, a native of St. Louis, joined the order in 1922. Pittsburgh, Pa. She taught school for 20 years before embarking on a nursing career.

She received her nursing degree in 1949 from St. Louis and has been at St. Elizabeth Hospital since that time.

Sister Marce has served the hospital in many ways; not only as a nurse on the floors, but as Director of Nurses and as a member of the Governing Board. Her dedication and service have contributed much to the hospital's principal aim of helping people, hospital authorities said.

Sister Theodore, a native of Little Rock, Ark., also entered the novitiate in 1922 in Pittsburgh. She has spent the last 50 years in the field of nursing at St. Elizabeth's.

Presently, Sister Theodore performs nursing duties on the fourth floor of the Doctors Wing, and previously was supervisor of the surgical floor of the hospital.

"Because of her vast experience and professional skill as a nurse, Sister's dedication has made an indelible mark on St. Elizabeth Hospital," a hospital statement said.

GOLDEN JUBILEE as Sisters of Divine Providence has been observed at a special mass by Sister M. Marce, left, and Sister M. Theodore. Both are on the nursing staff at St. Elizabeth Hospital. Sister Marce since 1949 and Sister Theodore for the past 50 years.

Pet adoption clinic Saturday at Grant's

A Lhasa Apso, an unusual breed of dog which originated in China, will be spotlighted in the adoption clinic Saturday to be sponsored by the Quad-City Association for Protection of Animals. The clinic will take place from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Saturday at the APA adoption center, located outside the main entrance to the Grant City store in Nameoki Village Shopping Center. Mrs. Connie Becerra, APA shelter supervisor, said the Lhasa Apso breed resembles a Pekingese, with short legs and a long coat. The spade female being offered for adoption is about 3 years old, has a long white coat and is a "well behaved" animal. "She loves children and needs to be in a home where there is a child," Mrs. Becerra said. The APA also has a large watchdog for adoption which is not recommended for a home with children or other pets. The male animal is half Weimaraner and half Redbone hound, she said. Longhaired Kittens, including snow-white and calico breeds, and several puppies, also will be offered at Saturday's adoption clinic. All pets made available to the public have received their initial distemper shots, the APA officer said. A donation is asked of those adopting an animal, with the amount varying, she explained. Funds collected in this manner help pay the cost of inoculations and the remainder is added to the APA education fund.

5 arrested

Five youths were charged and charges are expected to be filed against two others after a fight at Burger King, 3406 Nameoki Road, at 11:05 p.m. yesterday. Police reported they arrested several persons at the scene and placed them in the rear seat of a squad car while they attempted to arrest others. When they returned to the squad car, they noticed friends of those first arrested had set them free. Assistance was requested and other police cars converged on the scene to help in making arrests. Several youths escaped. Charged with disorderly conduct were: Ronald Galbraith, 18, of 38 Victoria Drive, Pontoon Beach; Rudy Pyle, 17, of 2508 Angela Drive; Mark Bessell, 17, of 2444 Woodlawn Ave.; Steve Simpson, 18, of 2941 Oregon Ave., a 16-year-old juvenile boy from Granite City.

Madison teachers pact

The Madison Board of Education will meet in special session at 7 p.m. today to act on a new agreement between the school district and members of Madison Local 763 of the American Federation of Teachers. The agreement was reached in negotiation sessions Monday and was ratified in a meeting of union teachers at the Madison High School Wednesday morning. Details of the agreement, involving salary schedules and fringe benefits for the 1974-75 school year just beginning, were not made public pending ratification action by the school board tonight. John Palchek, superintendent of schools, said the School Board is now in negotiation with members of the building custodians union. In a special meeting Tuesday night, the board created and filled a new position and hired four new teachers. The board created the post of district art supervisor and appointed Paula Domino to fill the position. Other appointments included Debbie Graville, junior high school math; Gloria Jean Gardner, elementary physical education; Debbie Palchek, kindergarten primary physical education, and Ruth Welch to fill a vacancy for one year only. The board also accepted the low bid of the Wilbur Waggoner Co. to demolish the building adjoining the board offices and clear the ground. Waggoner bid $3,000. One other bid of $3,546 from C. D. Peters Construction Co. was received.

Steelecrest annexation ok'd

Ten lots in the Steelecrest Village Manor area on the west edge of Granite City near Mockingbird Lane were annexed to the city by action of the Granite City Council Monday night.

The council approved the recommendation of the City Plan Commission to accept the plats for the lots. In a previous council meeting, the aldermen discussed the annexation and referred the issue to the Plan Commission for a recommendation.

The lots involved are lots four, seven and eight and lots 48 through 54. All will be able to tap onto the new Archer Daniels Midland Co. sanitary sewer which runs through the subdivision.

Also annexed were Whipperwill Lane and Lockhaven Drive where they are adjacent to the newly annexed lots.

Archer Daniels Midland Co. recently constructed a sewer from its new soybean processing plant on Cargill Road to connect with existing Granite City sewers. The company agreed to construct them to a capacity larger than, the plant needs at this time and to allow some homes to use the line.

The lots in Steelecrest Village Manor were among those for which rights-of-way were granted to ADM for the sewer line.

The council also concurred in the Plan Commission's recommendation to annex the property of Sam and Rose Caruso at 2616 Pine St., and the property of Allen and Barbara Kennerly, 2388 Kilnray Drive. Sanitary sewer service for these homes is to be provided by a new sewer to be constructed in that area by the residents.

A petition for annexation, submitted by Richard and Dorothy Cole, 2346 Emert Ave., was referred to the Plan Commission for a recommendation. The aldermen were told that the property was overlooked accidentally when surrounding lots were annexed.

Ambrose Hettich, 88, dies

Ambrose Hettich, 88, of 400 Rich St., Caseyville, formerly of Granite City, died at 3 a.m. today at Memorial Hospital in Belleville, where he had been a patient one week. He had been ill for a month.

Born in Louisiana, Mo., he resided in Granite City 20 years and in Caseyville 25 years.

Mr. Hettich retired from Steamfitters Local 498 in 1966. He served as chief of police of Granite City from 1916 to 1918 and was a past master of Masonic Lodge 877 and past president of the Tri-City Trades and Labor Council.

Mr. Hettich also belonged to the Tri-City Shrine Club, Almad Temple, Commandery 81, Royal Arch 221, Low 12 Club, Granite Chapter 650, Order of the Eastern Star, and World War I Barracks 34.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Cora Hettich, and two sisters, Mrs. Lucretia Wren and Mrs. Ruth Cole, both of DeQueen, Ark.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Sewer Bills

the future when bonds for construction of sewers in the Nameki Particular Areas 1 and 2 are retired. At that time, the $2.50 monthly sewer bill to homeowners in those areas (most of the city east of Nameki Road) will cease.

Homeowners in those areas, now paying $2.50 per month sewer bills and $2.70 quarterly for sewage treatment, will have only the $5.10 bill every three months, rather than the bills totaling $70.20 they now receive during a three-month period.

Monthly bills to those sewer areas were halted for a period last year, but billing was resumed when it was determined that not enough money had been received to retire all outstanding bonds.

The EPA is considering a rate schedule prepared by H. J. Umbaugh & Associates, Indianapolis, Ind., and approved by the county finance form in September 1973.

The $5.10 fee is based upon a charge of 42.5 cents per 100 cubic feet of sewage flow up to a total of 1,200 cubic feet, which includes virtually all residences.

In the second step of the schedule, customers using the next 37,800 cubic feet of water will pay sewer rates of 42 cents per 100 cubic feet.

These first steps of the fee scale compare with the existing rates for the primary treatment plant of 22 cents per 100 cubic feet for the first 39,000 cubic feet of water used.

In other words, larger users using 39,000 cubic feet of water under the new schedule would pay the first 1,200 cubic feet at 42.5 cents per 100 cubic feet, the next 37,800 cubic feet at 42 cents per 100 cubic feet, and the next 39,000 cubic feet at 42 cents per 100 cubic feet (or $158).

The bill for 39,000 cubic feet of water usage under the present schedule would be $55 at a rate of 22 cents per 100 cubic feet. Thus, the bill for sewage treatment of customers using 39,000 cubic feet of water would be increased 75¢ under the new scale, or 91.8¢ over the present charge.

The new schedule provides a graduated scale of charges on both a quarterly and monthly basis.

Under the proposed rates, sewer users, on the basis of water consumption, would pay:

For the first 1,200 cubic feet of water used, 42.5 cents per 100 cubic feet (or $5.10 per quarter); the next 37,800 cubic feet of water, 42 cents per 100 cubic feet; the next 39,000 cubic feet, 42 cents per 100; the next 81,000 cubic feet, 38 cents per 100; the next 81,000 cubic feet, 36 cents per 100; the next 162,000 cubic feet, 36 cents per 100; the next 1,098,000 cubic feet at 30 cents per 100, and over 1.5 million cubic feet, 26 cents per 100.

These compare with existing rates as follows:

The first 39,000 cubic feet, at 22 cents per 100; the next 39,000 cubic feet at 20 cents per 100; the next 81,000 cubic feet at 12 cents per 100; the next 162,000 cubic feet at 10 cents per 100; the next 1,098,000 cubic feet at 6 cents per 100, and over 1.5 million cubic feet at 1 cent per 100.

In addition, the ordinance provides:

"Whenever sewage or industrial waste discharged from any lot, parcel of land or premises into the city sewer system has a suspended solids content in excess of 240 parts per million as determined by tests conducted or supervised by the City, there shall be a rate charge in addition to the rates hereinabove specified as follows: $80 per 1,000 pounds of suspended solids for sewage strength in excess of 240 parts per million of suspended solids."

New sanitary sewer line

A sanitary sewer line will be installed this year to serve the Zippel and Emert avenues and Kilmarney Drive on the east edge of Granite City, if bids advertised for by the city council are within estimates.

Most property owners in that area already have annexed into Granite City and the others have pledged to annex as soon as the sanitary sewer line is assured.

The City Council voted Monday night to advertise for bids on the project. The bid will be opened at noon Monday, Sept. 9, at a meeting with homeowners from that area invited to watch and the City Council will consider the bids and possibly award a contract that week.

Specifications for the project call for a completion date of Nov. 4, 1974.

The project will be financed by a bond issue by the residents of the area. The city will not participate in the funding, aldermen were told. Local attorney, Horace Calvo, has donated his services as bonding attorney, Mayor Paul Schuler disclosed.

"The people there estimate this will cost them about $10 per month each for about 15 years. Everything is being paid for by these people," Schuler explained.

The sewer line is to begin in the alley between Emert and Gary avenues and will run east and west from Edgewood Avenue to Johnson Road.

It will continue across Johnson Road and will go westward along the south side of the roadway to the first alley where it will turn south two lots before emptying into an existing Granite City sewer.

Another part of the line will serve five homes on Kilmarney Drive, all homes on the north side of Zippel Avenue from Kilmarney Drive to Willow Avenue and both sides of Emert Avenue from Edgewood Avenue to Maryville Road.

The remaining homes in that area already have sanitary sewers.

The new sewer will have 60 sections for taps from homes and about 58 homes are expected to tap on immediately. The new sewer line will serve about 200 persons.

Specifications call for 1,670 linear feet of 16-inch line, 1,310 feet of eight-inch line, 13 manholes, backfill and other materials.

Asked if the existing city sewers have enough capacity to handle the additional sewage load, Alderman Ronald Coleman of the Seventh Ward, said, "The new sewer line and lift station give us the additional capacity for these homes."

Archer Daniels Midland Co. recently completed a sanitary sewer line from St. Clair and Willow avenues west to the Nameki Ditch and east to the parallel to the existing city sewers.

ADM officials offered to allow the city to share the line since it was built for a larger capacity than ADM requires.

County board salary plan

A plan under which Madison County Board members would receive a flat $6,000 annual salary, rather than the present $40 per meeting attended, was endorsed on a voice vote by the county board yesterday and will be considered for final adoption at the board's next meeting Sept. 18.

Presently, board members receive per diem pay of $40 for each board meeting or committee meeting. Auto mileage also is paid.

Some members have been accused of missing the per diem, collecting for up to five committee meetings a week, including those in which no business could be conducted because of a lack of quorum.

The new annual salary plan provides for penalties to be assessed against board members missing more than two county board meetings or 12 committee meetings per year without excused absences. The plan was drafted by James Heil, county board member from Godfrey.

In other business, the board upheld the firing of Jack Clifford, building and zoning administrator, for alleged falsification in applying the regulations of his office.

On a 2-2 vote, the board appointed Paul Hawkins, county environmental protection officer, to fill both Clifford's post and his own temporarily, pending outcome of a suit Clifford has filed asking to be reinstated. The suit also seeks damages from members of the county board who fired him.

Hawkins' salary was set at $17,000 per year, the same amount formerly received by Clifford. Hawkins had been paid $13,200 per year as environmental protection officer.

Voting against Hawkins assuming both roles were Mrs. Sybil Bellis of Rosewood Heights and James Greene of East Alton. Two amendments by Mrs. Bellis were defeated—one to limit Hawkins' annual salary to $14,500, and the other to have the county advertise for a "professional zoning officer" after Clifford's suit is settled.

The board unanimously approved the establishment of a force of "safety officers," replacing the former special deputies whose commissions were recalled after their legal status became questionable.

Sheriff John Maeras was authorized to "implement the office of supervisor of safety in Madison County," and to "set up a program and request an opinion of the state's attorney in relation to the function and duties etc., of assistant supervisors of safety."

Special deputies formerly included auxiliary units which provided law enforcement patrols in unincorporated areas such as State Park Place, Rosewood Heights and Cottage Hills.

After Maeras has formulated a plan for assistant supervisors of safety, State's Attorney Nicholas Byron will have to determine the legality of the plan before it can become effective.

In other business, the board voted to purchase three 1976 two-ton dump trucks from Butler Chevrolet of Edwardsville. Prices for the trucks with trade-ins are $7,855 and $8,655 and the county agreed to pay $8,905 for one with no trade-in. Butler was the only bidder on

Review telephone operations

Tom Rich, manager of the Granite City office of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., predicted yesterday that the local phone company will be able to provide even better service as a proposed merger with Illinois Bell is completed.

Rich made the prediction during the weekly meeting of the Madison Rotary Club at the Madison Recreation Center.

Rich was asked by Madison Mayor Mike Sasek why an extra charge is being required for push button telephones. Rich agreed to check and respond to Sasek's question.

The speaker later said that, although the telephone company has a monopoly in this area, similar to the power company and water company, operations are carefully controlled by the Illinois Commerce Commission and Federal Commerce Commission, assuring fair pricing and service.

Frank Fijan, who was program chairman and is chairman of the club's 50th Anniversary committee, reported preparations for a "March celebration are being made."

The committee plans to print a booklet detailing the history of the club and its accomplishments.

John G. Brawley Jr., Bi-State chairman and Missouri state director of transportation, said talks have started on the possibility of a $2,600,000 dock expansion here.

Olin is considering a $1,335,000 bulk-fertilizer storage and distribution terminal. An unspecified firm is said to be studying a $1,665,000 bulk storage and handling terminal.

Both proposals were described as preliminary in nature. Allen P. Beebe, president of area terminals corporations, said board approval in principle could aid the progress of discussions.

Figures mentioned were potential yearly tonnages of 75,000 to 100,000 for Olin and 250,000 to 500,000 for another party.

Terminal Rail yard modernization here

Installation of a 13-foot-high hump in Madison-Venice area railroad classification facilities of the Terminal Railroad Association will result in improved economies and efficiency, President John B. Buffalo said at opening ceremonies here Wednesday.

The yard automation contrasts with flat-switching in which engines push freight cars back and forth for new couplings.

The hump will permit cars to be rolled past the crest and toward 32 classification tracks at a rate of three or more a minute.

Moving of freight through its metropolitan area may be cut from 19 hours to ten hours or less, it was reported by Buffalo and officers of locomotive engineers.

The two groups reached agreement Tuesday on work rule revisions.

A more competitive outlook was forecast yesterday. It was noted that TRRA volume decreased from 1,084,000 cars in 1966 to 722,000 in 1973. The local yard now may handle 75 per cent of the company's St. Louis area switching, compared to 30 per cent in the past, it was related.

Lanternman to address Chamber here Oct. 10

The annual dinner meeting of all Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce members and their friends has been set for Thursday evening, Oct. 10, at Granite City High School North.

E. A. Karandjeff is chairman. This year there will be plenty of room to accommodate the gathering. Last year, a number of reservations had to be turned down because of space, a sponsored noted. Joseph Lanternman, chairman of the board, Amsted Industries, Chicago, will be the featured speaker with a session titled, "Our Heritage." American Steel Foundries is Amsted's local plant.

Reservations may be made through the Chamber of Commerce office, 1831 Delmar Ave.

Lanternman has had a long and successful career in industry, starting in 1936 with Amsted and advancing through several company positions to chairman of the board and director.

In addition, he has served as a director with a number of other companies and civic organizations, including five Illinois universities.

Attend food stamp hearing

Mayor William "Mike" Ebersold of Venice and Madison Mayor Mike Sasek attended hearings in East St. Louis yesterday concerning problems encountered in distributing food coupons through currency exchanges in East St. Louis and Alton.

Approximately 40 persons attended the hearings which were conducted by the Governor's Action Office.

Ebersold presented testimony in writing concerning difficulties encountered by food stamp users because of long distances they must travel to one of the two offices, and delays in obtaining coupon allotments. Ebersold has been assisting a local group in its efforts to obtain an office for distribution of stamps in the Quad-City area.

Players with experience bolster GC, Madison grid hopes

By KEN THOMPSON
Press-Record Staff Writer
For the first time in the Illinois High School Association's 82-year history, there will be competition leading to the determination of statewide football champions. Local coaches are still assessing the implications of the new five-level tournament series Nov. 6-23.

They agree that it will have a big impact on the objectives and tactics of the 1974 season opening Sept. 6.

The 529 football-playing schools in the IHSA began football practice drills Monday in preparation for the fall interscholastic campaign.

For teams that are members of conferences, the outcome of their league games during the regular season will determine the nucleus of playoff participants in each of the five classes, 1A through 5A. Enrollment limits are drawn at 350, 550, 1,125 and 2,200 between the five categories.

Champions of each of the five football conferences throughout the state earn berths in 16-team class brackets, which include in this community only the Warriors of Granite City High School South (Class 5A). South has not captured the conference grid title since 1946, although enough close a few times. East St. Louis and Belleville West have been dominant. Three at-large entrants, coming from the ranks of independent schools such as Granite City High School North (Class 4A) and Madison High School (Class 3A) — and the ranks of conference co-champions also will be selected in each of the five enrollment classifications.

The Warriors of South, with first-year mentor Stan Wojcik at the helm, opens their season at home in a non-conference contest with cross-town rival GCHS North and then face Riverview Gardens in another non-conference game. From there on, it is Southwestern Conference competition all the way.

Some coaches say conference games will have to be played with winning in mind, while non-conference contests will have to be weighed carefully and also can prove decisive.

"If we beat GCHS North, that victory isn't going to help us at all during the season unless North has a winning record," South Coach Wojcik comments. "Our opponents have to have a winning record for a victory to count, and I believe you are going to see a lot more wide-open football because of this."

"In non-conference games, a coach will have to decide whether or not the opposing team's win-loss record warrants playing for a tie."

For the Trojans of Madison High, the initiation of a state championship means "something to shoot for."

"It gives the kids a lot to shoot for," speculates Coach Al Vonder Haar.

"We now have definite goals and levels to try and reach. Before, as an independent, all we had to look forward to was just another ball game; now, each game has its own importance."

"To give you an idea," continued Vonder Haar, "of what a championship goal means to an independent team, think back to when Madison was a member of the Midwestern Conference."

"I've been here seven years now, and my first three years here we were members of that conference. The Trojans lost only three games during that time, which was a fantastic record."

"Now, with a definite goal to work toward, I think people are going to see a repeat this season of that Trojan era."

Second-year Steeler Coach Tom Wrostek told the Press-Record this week, "We aren't looking at November right now. We are looking at the first game of the season and each one individually thereafter."

"Maybe, later on, if things develop," he said matter-of-factly, "they develop."

"But right now, we are going to take them one at a time."

Comparing the Steelers' 1973 "rookie" season with the upcoming one, Wrostek feels that his team is in a much better situation now than at this time a year ago.

"We got off to a mighty slow start last season," he recalled, "and we were a young team. This year, we are a little more experienced, but with the schedule we have this year, we have to be."

Reviewing the 1974 season schedule, Wrostek thinks the Steeler card has been considerably upgraded.

"We've picked up GCHS South and Collinsville, also a 5A school. Then there are Wood River and Roxana, which are always top teams in the Bi-State Conference."

"And we play Assumption, which has Jerome Heavens; what a super-athlete he is!"

"We also included DeMet of St. Louis, expected to be one of the toughest schools across the river this season. And, of course, there are Mattoon, tops in its conference last year, and O'Fallon another top contender in Bi-State."

The head coach said he is pleased with this week's turnout for varsity practice sessions, but the Steelers are still a little slim at the underclass level.

"All the boys we have this year are returnees from the first North team, which posted a 4-5 season record, he noted. "We have 14 returning lettermen and the rest of the players are coming up from the sophomore class."

"We run these practices on the idea of conditioning the boys and also on the idea of picking out who has the potential talent. Once we evaluate their individual performances and have a chance to see them in scrimmages, we will re-evaluate them. The ones who actually produce the best are the ones who are going to play for us."

"Bellefonte East, Cahokia, Collinsville, Alton, Belleville West, and East St. Louis — we face the cream of the crop in high school football," said Wojcik.

"West and East St. Louis have been the top two teams in this area for the past ten years."

"Edwardsville is going to be tough; there's no doubt about that, because it has the entire backfield returning."

"And now, with a state championship at stake," he said, "those teams and all the rest are that much more determined to win."

The Warriors are heading into the season with eight returning lettermen — Kirk Champion, Bryan Bunjan, Paul Mushill, Bryan Wilson, Doug Hartman, Greg Terrell, Ray Smith and Tom Schooley — and his head mentor plans no major changes from last year, which produced a 3-3-1 season record.

"We have made very few changes, both offensively and defensively. We have the same formations and the same plays. As before, there probably will be a couple of boys who will play both ways, defense and offense. We don't know yet who is going to be our quarterback, but what we want to do is put our best out there on the field. We don't have enough numbers for two platoons," he said, "so we figure that if a boy is good enough to play offense, he is good enough to play defense, too."

At the other end of the triangle of Quad-City schools, Madison's Vonder Haar was drawing various plays on a blackboard and explaining them to the Trojans' 14 returning seniors and the 25 juniors and 27 sophomores who reported for practice.

"Emmett Timmons is looking for the quarterback spot again," said Vonder Haar. "We've got Joe Young back; for the past two years, he has been our leading player on the ground."

"New on the list also this season are Quincy Catholic Boys, Dupu, Breese Mater Dei and Columbia."

Although the Trojans did not win any games last season, Vonder Haar feels the 1974 Madison team has corrected the previous problems.

"All we coaches can do is teach them to hold onto the ball until they get past the end zone, and then I don't care what they do with it."

For a team that in two seasons turned the ball over to the opposing squads with 75 fumbles, Vonder Haar backed those misuses with, "They were aggressive fumbles."

"The boys were trying to pick up extra yardage, and it hurt when they lost the ball. But our defense did an outstanding job in backing them up."

With a school enrollment of only 275 male students, the Trojan schedule was altered to emphasize schools of comparable size and ability.

"We don't play Francis Howell anymore, but we picked up Wentzville for our season opener on Sept. 7."

"New on the list also this season are Quincy Catholic Boys, Dupu, Breese Mater Dei and Columbia."

Although the Trojans did not win any games last season, Vonder Haar feels the 1974 Madison team has corrected the previous problems.

Cycle win still thrilling, defeat as painful as ever

The weekly American Motorcycle Association sanctioned Tuesday evening racing program at Tri-City Speedway saw area fans witness the glory of victory and the agony of defeat as Oklahoma's Randy Cleek snapped Texas' domination here for the second week in a row.

Last week, California's Chuck Pridgen rode his way into the feature race winner's circle for the first time this season to end Texan Guy McClure's five-race winning streak.

McClure on Tuesday appeared headed toward a victory sweep of the racing program here.

He took top honors in qualifying time trials with a one-lap tour of 15.6 seconds, captured his heat race, and was leading his semi-feature event until he lost control of his mount in the first turn on the last lap of the race, and crashed.

The event was captured by Granite City's Glenn Falter and McClure was ushered away to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he reported pain in his left lower leg and ankle. He was x-rayed, treated for an ankle abrasion and released.

Cleek failed to qualify his cycle among the top five, at 16.1 seconds, and placed second behind Falter in the fifth heat race before earning his way into the main event by winning his semi-race.

Texan James Lee attempted to up the Lone Star state's 7.3 feature race record, but Cleek powered his cycle past him down the front straightaway to win by half a wheel length.

Cleek's victory was marred on the sixth lap of the 16-lap event when Belleville's Doug Ahn flipped his cycle coming out of the second corner.

Ahn was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he was admitted in fair condition with fractures of ribs and abrasions to his right leg.

Having posted his second main event win of the season, Cleek gained a four-point 25-21 lead in point standings over McClure.

Other race victors Tuesday were: Pat McCaul, Dan Kirkland and James Lee, all in heat races, and Lee in the second semi-event.

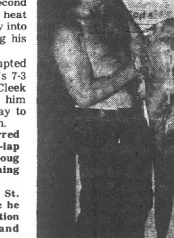

Victorious also was Granite City's Jack Huetner in the consolation event.

Huetner, in winning his first race ever at Tri-City Speedway, had to outsize and defeat not only the second-place finisher, St. Louisan Rodney Noel, but also 20-year-old Tammy Sessions of Bellevue, Wash., who finished third.

Miss Sessions, a novice AMA rider with seven years' experience, was the first woman in the United States to enter the sport as a professional and was making her first appearance ever here.

Specializing in half-mile dirt track, desert and motocross types of racing, she told the Press-Record, "Male riders give me no quarter whatsoever. They ride hard and push without mercy on the speedway."

Tri-City Speedway's cycle racing program will resume next Tuesday at 7 p.m. with time trials. The first racing event will begin at 8 p.m.

2 stock car season racing championships are undecided

The battle for the season championship in both late model and sportsman class stock car racing at Tri-City Speedway still promises to be decided on the last race date of the season. Competition will resume tomorrow.

The top three drivers in each division are so close in the point standings that only a miracle will give any one driver a runaway in the title chase.

St. Louisian Bill Scherer, a former sportsman class champion and a rookie at Tri-City Speedway this year, closed the gap on the late model point leaders last week by winning his third feature race of the season. The victory boosted him into fourth place in the standings with 1,510 points.

Only 180 points separate Scherer and current point leader Len Gittenmeier of St. Charles, Mo.

Gittenmeier, with two feature wins to his credit, promised to extend his lead over the other drivers in last week's feature race until his race car ran out of gasoline on the back straightaway while running seventh.

Defending track champion Wib Spalding, Pontoon Beach, did not compete last Friday and yielded second place to Russ Wallace of Arnold, Mo. Spalding has 1,515 points and Wallace 1,585. Gittenmeier's total is 1,890.

Despite the fact that Spalding has not competed here in the past three weeks, he still heads the other competitors in wins with four feature race victories.

A spokesman for the Spalding racing team disclosed this week that the local racing star has been working 10-12 hours a day at his regular fulltime job and also is in the process of preparing his dirt track car for upcoming fair racing programs in Missouri and Illinois.

In the sportsman division, the situation has Granite Cityans Rod Bailey and Jack Yates chasing current point-leader John Wolfmeier. 215 points separate third-place Yates, who has 885 points, and Wolfmeier, with 1,100.

Bailey, sandwiched in between the two with 980 points, has been in victory lane only once this season.

Yates has carried the checkered flag four times and Wolfmeier has yet to be in the winner's circle.

"Getting the right breaks," remarked Bailey, "is an important ingredient to winning in this division."

THRILL A SECOND will be provided racing fans tomorrow evening at Tri-City Speedway. One of the acts of the "Death Riders" is this type of car-crunching smashup by one of the show's ten members.

Daredevil show here after races tomorrow

One of the nation's top-rated thrill shows will be featured at tomorrow evening's stock car racing program at Tri-City Speedway, 5100 Nameoki Road. The "Death Riders" of Danville, Ill., to be spotlighted this fall in a television series called the Thrill Seekers, will perform high-speed, death-defying acts and precision riding. Also on their program here will be stunt riding, a tunnel of fire, a leap over autos, "flaming bomber," a human ramp and Squeaky the clown.

During the past two years, this group of motorcycle and auto daredevils has appeared at more than 120 county and state fairs across the U.S. and has been on several television specials.

A main attraction of the Death Riders show is Danny Reed, "Mr. TNT," who climbs into a wooden coffin, places two sticks of dynamite 18 inches from his head and lights the fuse.

Reed has just completed a taped segment for the "To Tell the Truth" television show to be aired next month.

The special show here will follow the regular racing program at the local speedway. Racing trials and competition begin at 7:30 p.m.

The season's first practice session will begin tomorrow at the Arlington Heights Golf Course.

2nd-place Mercer in doubleheader at home

As the Illinois Inter-City Baseball league season hits its home stretch, with only three more weekends of regularly scheduled games remaining, before playoffs begin, Red Division honors already have been decided.

Blue Division standings are unlikely to be certain until the close of season competition, due to the close competition for third place, but East Alton is virtually assured of the title.

Troy, now with a 12-2 record, has clinched the Red Division title. Mercer, at 8-7, is assured of second place no matter what the outcome of its remaining games.

Highland-Pierron rounds out the three-team division with a 4-10 record going into this weekend's games.

Blue Division standings are: East Alton 10-3, Panama 7-7, Piasa 6-10 and Livingston 3-11.

League competition Sunday has Piasa at Mercer for a doubleheader at Wilson Park at 1 p.m.; Troy at East Alton for a doubleheader at 1 p.m.; and Livingston at Highland-Pierron for a 2 p.m. contest. Panama has an open date Sunday.

Flag football registration

The Granite City Park District now is accepting registration from 8-to-12-year-old youths who plan to participate in its 1974 flag football program, which begins next month.

Game officials and team managers also are being sought. An applicant for either position, official or manager, must be at least a high school senior with knowledge of flag football rules.

Additional information for prospective players and leaders can be obtained by contacting Mike Jessee, park district recreation director, at 877-3059.

Grid equipment

Coolidge Junior High School will issue football equipment to prospective players from 9 a.m. to noon tomorrow at the school's gymnasium.

Soccer freshmen will aid already strong teams here

Both Granite City High Schools this week open their fields for practice to help prepare their respective soccer teams for the 1974 season. The Steelers of GCHS North, under the guidance of second-year coach Robert Kehoe, opens a 23-game season on Tuesday, Sept. 3, at home with Alton. South's Warriors, with second-year coach Gene Baker holding the reins, opens its 19-game season two days later on the road, also with Alton. The two schools have included in their schedules two meetings against each other—the first on Sept. 17 and the second on Oct. 4.

Both coaches agree that one of the key steps in pre-season sessions is to teach athletes basic elements of the push-pass routine. "If they don't learn it," said Baker, "they really never become a smooth, integral part of a passing team, which we have to become this year with the small physical size team we have."

Both schools had as many as 60 youths report for Monday's first session and both Baker and Kehoe speculate that many of their starting players will be from the freshman ranks. "We have 16 players returning from last year," said Kehoe, "but they will have to compete against freshmen and sophomores to earn a spot on the team."

"Right now it looks like we have at least two good fresh prospects in the lineup. We lost six of last season's starters," Kehoe said. "We have to replace our goalie, three backfield men and two forwards." Coach Baker feels his South squad will consist of not only seniors Ron Goldschmidt and Dave Sheridan, but also "five or six brother adees with great potential—and they all include freshmen."

While the Steelers are expected to have a team comparable to last year's squad, South's Warriors hope for a fully-balanced 11-player operation.

Fence Saturday at Steele field

The Tri-City Area YMCA, 2001 Edison Ave., is seeking the help of volunteers in installing a fence around the Steele Field, located at the end of Clark Avenue. The soccer field is being prepared for the fall 1974 soccer season. Persons wishing to donate their time are to report to Steele Field Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon and again from 1 to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Invitational tennis tourney this weekend

About 150 singles and 75 doubles tennis entrants will take to the courts at Wilson Park and GCHS South tomorrow to compete in a three-day invitational tennis tournament being hosted by the Granite City Park District. Pairings for the 15-event tourney are being drawn this afternoon for tomorrow's 9 a.m. competition at both courts.

Sanctioned by the United States Lawn Tennis and Missouri Valley Tennis associations, tournament events will include: junior boys' singles and doubles, boys' 16 and under singles and doubles, boys' 14 and over singles and doubles, men's singles and doubles, senior men's singles, women's singles and doubles, and girls' 14 and over singles and doubles. After first-round action tomorrow, competition will resume at 9 a.m. Saturday at both court areas. The finals will be held at the Wilson Park court Sunday afternoon, with a 2 o'clock estimated starting time.

Township bills given board ok

Granite City Township bills totaling $4,514 in the town fund and $9,920 in the general assistance fund were approved by City Council members convened as the Town Board Monday night.

The board also gave its approval to $566 in claims payable out of the federal revenue sharing accounts.

Town fund bills included $3,857 in salaries, $300 in legal fees, $146 for phone service and the remainder in miscellaneous costs.

General fund bills included $4,327 for food, $1,315 in salaries, $119 in rent, $520 for medical prescriptions and $3,506 in medical and other service costs.

Bills in the revenue sharing account were for work done at 1918 Edison Ave. where the township is establishing a Senior Citizens meeting facility.

The bills cover the first half of August.

Circus Sept. 10-12 to aid Shriner hospitals

The circus will soon be here, and laughter will fill the air from the antics of clowns. Signs are expected to be heard when the "dive of death" nears its completion, and applause for many of the other acts.

The schedule for the Annual Ainal Temple Shrine Circus is: Belleville's Belle-Clair Fairgrounds on Sept. 7-9, and then on to the Tri-City Speedway, 5100 Nameoki Road, Granite City, on Sept. 10-11-12. Chairman Bill Popkes, chief ribbon of Ainal Temple, has booked a matinee on Saturday, Sept. 7, at 2 p.m. and also two performances on Sunday, Sept. 8, at 1 and 4 p.m. All other shows will be at 7:30 each night.

With 19 displays for this year's circus, the finale will be a repeat by demand—Hugo Zucchini, the "human cannonball."

Other top acts include the Flying Del-Steeles, the Rosell Troupe from Columbia, and "Geonimo" and his "dive of death."

Nobility of Ainal Temple, numbering 8,400 and covering 94 Shrine clubs, help sell the tickets that bring the audience from all over Southern Illinois. Many groups are from schools and churches. Circus "dads" are Nobles who buy their tickets and give them back to the Temple to use for those who cannot afford the purchase price. Many groups use these tickets.

The price remains the same, $2 for adults and $1 for children. There are no reserved seats at either location.

Ainal is one of 176 Shrine temples on the North American continent that help sponsor Shriners' Hospitals for Crippled Children; it required $31 million in 1974 to run the 22 hospitals.

St. Louis has a 100-bed unit; Ainal sent 218 youngsters there last year and turned in more than $50,000 from its "Bonds for Braces" program.

Pre-circus parades are planned Sept. 4 in Granite City and Sept. 6 in Belleville.

Coal development bond law signed

Gov. Dan Walker on Monday signed a bipartisan package of energy legislation authorizing sale of $70 million in state bonds for Illinois coal development projects.

The legislation also establishes an 18-member Illinois Energy Resources Commission and a 10-member Illinois Energy Advisory Council on Coal Development.

The Department of Business and Economic Development will administer the energy program and work to bring coal projects to Illinois.

Gov. Walker said, "With the signing of these four bills, we will put the state into the forefront of energy development."

"We have committed a major sum of state funds to the development of our coal resources."

And we have built an outstanding state energy program: a new legislative commission to set future goals, a new responsibility for an executive department, and a new advisory council to provide guidance and coordination for the executive branch.

"Energy development is one of the most critical challenges for Illinois. We have the resources — 240 billion tons of coal are lying beneath Illinois."

"With present technology, we could supply enough coal to satisfy all the energy requirements of Illinois homes, businesses and industry for more than 200 years."

"Of course, coal will not be our only energy source for all those years, but that gives some idea of how vast a supply of coal we have — and how important it is to make use of it."

"One of our primary tasks is to develop the technology to use Illinois coal without damaging the environment."

"The state will help by providing environmental monitoring, improving transportation from mines to markets, accelerating basic research on college campuses, and training people for the new mining and coal conversion techniques that will be needed in the future."

The bills signed are: House Bill 2651, establishing an Illinois Energy Resources Commission made up of 10 legislators and eight public members, sponsored by House Speaker W. Robert Blair (R, Park Forest).

Senate Bills 1659 and 1660, authorizing a $70 million coal development bond program and appropriating $10 million to the Department of Business and Economic Development for the first year of the program, sponsored by Sen. Bradley M. Glass (R, Northfield).

Senate Bill 1667, giving the same department eminent domain power for use in connection with its new coal development functions, sponsored by Senate Minority Leader Cecil A. Partee (D, Chicago).

SEEING IS BELIEVING

Visitors from outer space are real to the Selchows

WOODSTOCK — One evening at dusk Bill Selchow was driving toward Crystal Lake on U.S. 14 when he saw an object hovering just above the trees along the road.

"That was the most unexplainable thing I've ever seen," he recalled.

It was perfectly spherical, he said, describing the object, and it was marked with cross-hatched lines.

One moment it was there and the next it was gone, he said. "All within about five seconds."

One morning around 3 a.m. Shirley Selchow looked out her bedroom window and saw a bright orange object floating across the sky.

"I didn't hear anything," she remembered, and in a few moments the object passed between some trees and out of sight.

Bill and Shirley Selchow are believers.

"We strongly believe that there are people on the other planets in our solar system," explained Selchow.

The Selchows, married 22 years and the parents of four children, became interested in the possibilities of life on other planets and of unidentified flying objects (UFOs) in 1966.

Friends interested them in the topic, said Selchow.

Talking recently in the living room of their Woodstock home, the Selchows agreed that their interest is now more than casual.

"The more you get into it," explained Selchow, "the more it becomes a way of life."

It is, in Mrs. Selchow's words, "The study of life. Do I have a purpose? What am I? Am I one of a kind? ... I believe there are answers."

Some of those answers are found in the unidentified flying objects that are periodically sighted in America and virtually every other country.

The Selchows have seen such things, said Bill, "I'm sure that a lot of us have."

Many of these sightings are probably not ships from other planets, the Selchows said. But there have been too many sightings in too many places by too many reputable persons to not believe that someone from another planet has approached earth, they said.

"The things that I've seen

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD
Thurs., Aug. 22, 1974 Page 10

look pretty much like stars," said Selchow.

On July 5, for example, he said he saw what he describes as two crafts passing across the night sky.

They were "just a white light," he said, but they were too high and going too fast to be stars.

The Selchows know that some people will think that they are crazy and some will think they're liars.

"That makes no difference to us," said Selchow.

A painting of a spaceship dominates one wall of their living room.

They explained that it was copied for them, by a friend, from a photograph taken by George Adamski at 9 a.m. on Dec. 13, 1952, at Palomar Gardens, Calif.

The craft in the painting looks like the stereotype image of a flying saucer.

For the Selchows the sighting by Adamski and similar confirmed sightings are evidence supporting their belief.

That belief, that we on earth are not alone in the vastness of the universe — is more important to them, however, than the confirmation of UFOs.

"We believe very strongly that you don't have but one life," said Bill, calmly. "The part of you that we call soul goes on and on."

Most scientists, although they have kept the door open to the possibility, deny that there is life on the other planets in our solar system, commented Selchow.

"I wonder how they've determined that?" he asked. He said that the instruments used to gather that information have been focused on earth by our astronauts and "the information they received indicated that life as we know it cannot exist on earth."

Public officials continue to deny the existence of extraterrestrial beings on this planet.

Nevertheless, said Mrs. Selchow, she is certain that people from other planets have visited earth and have met with high officials.

The officials won't admit it, she said, perhaps to avoid a possible, panic, perhaps for economic reasons.

"They have reasons," she said.

To discuss their beliefs and the possibilities of life on other planets the Selchows have organized a small group.

Anyone is welcome to come, they said.

Whether their discussion group is a success or a failure the Selchows will not give up their beliefs or their study of other worlds.

When they see a UFO, Selchow said, "I feel great."

Seven hurt in accident

Seven persons, including three small children, suffered serious injuries when an auto plunged down an embankment and overturned at 11:50 p.m. Wednesday on Route 203, near Collinsville Avenue in Madison.

All the injured are Missouri residents.

Police said the southbound vehicle, operated by Larry Holmes, 28, of Aniston, Mo., crossed all four traffic lanes and plunged down the viaduct embankment. The auto turned over onto its top before skidding to a halt about 250 feet from where the accident originated.

All occupants of the vehicle were taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital. Later, three were transferred to St. Louis hospitals.

Holmes sustained lacerations to the head and through the left ear, had x-rays taken of the skull and spine and was admitted at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Mrs. Debbie Zuck, of East Prairie, Mo., suffered a fracture to the nose and injured the abdomen and rib cage. She had x-rays taken of the pelvis, skull and face bones and was admitted to the Intensive Care Unit here.

Tracy Holmes, 4, of Aniston, was treated for a large cut to the back, had x-rays made of the chest and skull and was transferred to Cardinal Glennon Hospital, St. Louis.

Tracy's mother, Mrs. Vicki Holmes, 15 months, also of Aniston, who suffered a skull fracture.

Mrs. Mabel Holmes, 22, of Aniston, sustained a large bruise to the head and had x-rays taken of the skull and spine and chest before being transferred to Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis.

Marvin Knupp, 39, of Aniston, sustained a back injury and was treated in the emergency room and released.

The appointment was announced during a regular City Council meeting at which the aldermen considered Nelson Rockefeller said that whether he would be on the same ticket has not been decided. Senators Port and Stevenson of Illinois said they will enthusiastically vote to confirm Rockefeller.

Pres. Ford and Sen. Edward Kennedy both backed limited amnesty for draft dodgers and deserters but Veterans of Foreign Wars national delegates voted unanimously against the plan.

The Admiral excursion vessel will be transferred next month to New Orleans and may be replaced by the smaller President.

Impeachment proceedings ended Tuesday with a 419 House vote accepting the Judiciary Committee report on former Pres. Nixon.

Liability coverage at issue

The city of Granite City may be responsible for full payment of any judgments rendered against it in relation to the fatal shooting of Michael Collins, 16, of Granite City by police May 22, 1974.

City aldermen were informed at Monday night's City Council meeting that American Home Assurance Co., the city's liability insurance carrier for the police department, has filed suit in Madison County Circuit Court, attempting to absolve the company of any responsibility for payment of any claims arising from the incident.

The insurance company seeks a declaratory judgment from the court verifying that the city failed to follow the provisions of the insurance policy by failing to notify the insurance company immediately that a suit had been filed against the city in the matter.

The original suit was filed May 17, 1974, by Vonda L. Collins, mother and administratrix of the estate of Michael Collins, against the city and three policemen, Harry Mitchell, Edward Wiseman and David Rosenberg. It alleged the policemen exceeded the force necessary to arrest the Collins boy or prevent his escape. That suit still is pending.

Mrs. Collins seeks $100,000 damages and costs of the suit. American Home Assurance Co. claims in its suit that the Police Professional Liability Policy it had with the city contained a provision that unless all terms of the policy were complied with, "No action shall lie against the company."

The councilmen also were informed that a former Granite City police prisoner intended to file suit against the city. The man alleges that on May 8, 1974, a policeman pushed the prisoner's face against jail cell bars, injuring his face.

In other business, the aldermen voted to have a stop sign erected at the northeast corner of Washington Avenue and 22nd Street, stopping westbound traffic on Washington Avenue; and to place a stop sign at the northeast corner of 17th and State streets, stopping southbound traffic on State Street.

An ordinance to erect a four-way stop at Buxton and Faith Avenues failed to muster a two-thirds vote for final passage Monday night as Aldermen Gerald Parmley and Earl Baker of the Sixth Ward and Ronald Coleman of the Seventh Ward voted against it.

The ordinance was approved on the same 9-3 vote for first reading, requiring only a simple majority, and will be presented to the council at its next meeting for final action.

Alderman Clyde Boyd (Third Ward), William Dallas (First Ward) and Walter Nunn (Fifth) were absent Monday night.

Parmley opposed the stop signs at Buxton and Faith, saying Faith is the only exit to Nameki Road from the Sunset Drive, Fortune Drive area and that stop signs are not the proper way to try and control speeds, which is a police job. Parmley later requested that the city attorney prepare an ordinance authorizing stop signs at Zippel Avenue and Kilmer Drive. He also requested street name signs at the same location.

An excavation permit was granted to Illinois Power Co. to replace a gas main in the alley between Washington Avenue and Iowa Street in the 2400 to 2600 blocks. The work is to be completed by Sept. 23.

The resignation of Robert Voss from the city's board of engineers was accepted and the council concurred in the appointment of Ralph Stegelmeyer to fill the vacancy. Resolutions were approved condemning houses in the 2100 block of West 19th Street, the 2800 block of Cayuga Avenue and the 700 block of Twenty-sixth Place.

Aldermen were told that condemnation proceedings against a house in the 2000 block of Fourteenth Street were halted after the owner agreed to demolish or repair the house.

Second Ward Alderman Frank Greenwald noted that a porch collapsed and killed a 3-year-old girl in the 2000 block of Fourteenth Street were halted after the owner agreed to demolish or repair the house.

"You never know how safe these old buildings are," Greenwald commented.

Alderman Claude Green of the Fourth Ward agreed and praised the city's appointees for their work on rapid condemnations.

The board accepted a price from the 18th Street Garage to repair a damaged police car for $912. The car was damaged one week ago in an accident at 23rd Street and Edison Avenue in which Sgt. Albert Diak was injured.

Insurance may reimburse the city for the repair costs after claims have been settled, but the aldermen agreed to have repairs made immediately so the car may be returned to duty.

The aldermen authorized the city clerk to advertise for bids for 1,000 feet of fire hose and for storm windows at the West Granite City fire station, both on the request of Alderman Baker, chairman of the city's fire and water committee. Baker also reported that a cost estimate is being prepared by the SM Co. for Granite City to install the Opticon system here. The system would allow traffic lights to be turned to green by emergency vehicles.

Nursing home residents have own newspaper

Residents of the Colonial Haven Nursing Home have begun distribution of their own monthly newspaper, the first issue of which was distributed this week.

The "newspaper" is typed and copies made for circulation among the residents, administration workers and employees. Items mostly concern new admissions, background of residents and programs and events occurring in the nursing home.

There is no specific "deadline" for the paper, but it will be issued once each month.

Fair enhances Walker image; DeGrazia power still growing

By KEN WATSON
Press-Record
Springfield Bureau

Fair week was Walker's week. Gov. Dan Walker once again displayed his talent in public relations by holding the spotlight during Illinois State Fair activities—and also manipulating it in a way that diminished what might have been strong and adverse public reaction to one of the most sweeping shakeups of an Illinois governor's cabinet in many years.

Once again, there was a conscious beneath the Statehouse dome that Walker had in the overall come out ahead.

His almost daily visits to the fair grounds enabled him to score repeatedly in his continuing and successful governor-to-people campaign.

Regardless of how Capitol cynics may judge his performance as governor or his political tactics, there appears little doubt that he continues to "go over" with much of the general public.

The governor is a striking figure and a personable man. Illinoisans like his handling of the situation. People, in general, seem little interested in state issues, unless it is something like the income tax.

It is obvious, too, that they welcome Walker's informal manner, a striking contrast to the stiff and formal style of his predecessor, Richard B. Ogilvie.

Former Gov. Ogilvie seemed unduly concerned about personal security and was constantly surrounded by plainclothes bodyguards.

Gov. Walker's latest public relations push also benefitted through what turned out to be a highly successful fair.

Visitors, reflecting the relaxed national mood that followed the lifting of the Watergate weight, turned out in large numbers to enjoy the return of beer, the introduction of bingo and staging of initial statewide drawings.

Much of the credit for the return of "fun at the fair" inevitably went to Walker.

The new fair-generated popularity obscured the impact and meaning of the big cabinet shakeup which saw the resignations or transfers of five key cabinet officers. It was recognized at the Statehouse as a shakeup, although Walker insisted that it was not.

The shuffle triggered by the resignation of highly respected Joel Edelman as director of the State Department of Public Aid revealed an aspect of the Walker administration.

This is his failure to delegate authority and responsibility and a tendency to grant virtually unlimited powers to top aides, principally Victor DeGrazia, deputy to the governor, to interfere in the functioning of the various departments.

It is widely believed that a major reason for Edelman's departure was a constant effort by DeGrazia to "take over" the Welfare Department and to use it as a patronage dispenser.

The attention which DeGrazia and other Walker aides pay to the hiring of state employees at all levels has become a Statehouse joke.

It is said, not entirely in jest, that not even a file clerk can be

Proclaim 'Forget-Me Not' day

A proclamation setting the week of Sept. 9 through 14 as Disabled American Veterans Forget-Me-Not Day has been issued jointly by the four mayors of the Quad-City area.

The proclamation was signed by Mayors Paul Schuler of Granite City, Mike Sasyk of Madison, William "Mike" Ebersold of Venice and Floyd D. Moss of Pontoon Beach.

It said:

Whereas, the war is not over for our disabled veterans who have given a part of body and well-being in the wartime service to our nation; and

Whereas, Many disabled veterans, their families and their dependents are in need of counseling, rehabilitation assistance, and advice pertaining to government rights and benefits; and

Whereas, The Disabled American Veterans, chartered by Congress as the official voice of the Nation's warble disabled, is rendering a vital service to the disabled veteran of the community and area; and

Whereas, The DAV has pledged itself to protect existing benefits and help obtain additional needed benefits for

America's Disabled defenders; and

Whereas, The DAV has chosen Sept. 9 through 14 as its annual Forget-Me-Not Day in this community, the funds derived from said Day to be used in behalf of the disabled veteran and his dependents in this community;

Now, therefore, we, the following Mayors, do hereby proclaim Sept. 9 through 14, 1974, as Disabled American Veterans Forget-Me-Not Day and request all citizens, interested groups and societies to participate in the day.

R. J. Willaredt Services held

Out-of-town guests from South Dakota and Chicago attended the funeral services here Monday for Raymond J. Willaredt, 56, former Granite City police chief who died of an apparent heart attack early Friday. They were guests of Mrs. Willaredt at her home, 2509 Lynch Ave., while here.

They included Mrs. Gottlieb Willaredt and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Willaredt, all of Bridgewater, S. D. and Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Berg and children of Chicago.

Funeral services were conducted at 11 a.m. Monday at St. John United Church of Christ for Mr. Willaredt, who died at 1:25 a.m. Friday. Burial was in St. John Cemetery.

Mr. Willaredt, a Madison County deputy sheriff for the past eight years, came home from work at about midnight Thursday and went to bed. Later, his wife found he apparently was not breathing and called an ambulance. He was pronounced dead upon arrival at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

There will not be an inquiry as he had been under the care of a doctor for two years.

Rites for relative of GC residents

Funeral services were held at 10 a.m. Wednesday at a Staunton funeral home for Mrs. Mary Ellen Bianco, 64, of Staunton, a relative of Granite City residents.

She died at 1:15 a.m. Monday in the Community Memorial Hospital, Staunton. She had been ill two years.

M., Mrs. Dot Messinger, Mrs. Edna Counts, Mrs. Ruth Phillips and Mrs. Lucille Schannott, all of Granite City.

Burial was in Memorial Park Cemetery, Staunton.

Morris Chapman in Who's Who

The 1974 edition of Who's Who will contain biographical information concerning a Granite City attorney, Morris B. Chapman, who maintains offices at 1406 Niedringhaus Ave., it was reported this week.

Chapman is a member of the International Society of Barristers which is composed of outstanding trial lawyers throughout the world. He presently is vice-president of the Illinois Trial Lawyers Association, a national officer of the American Trial Lawyers Association and is a member of the National Committee on medical malpractice.

Chapman has been a frequent lecturer on trial advocacy in legal seminars held in this country. He was the delegate chairman of the Bahai World Faith in Guatemala during 1970-71 and served actively for three years in its behalf.

Hurt in accident

Mrs. Sheila Wilson, 19, of 1609 Courtenay Blvd., was injured when her car and the auto of Kenneth Casper, 4900 Mueller Ave., collided at Pontoon Road and Wabash Avenue at 4:40 p.m. Tuesday.

Mrs. Wilson was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where she was treated for multiple scratches to both arms and her right knee and a half-inch cut to the back of her head. X-rays were taken and she was admitted.

Matson to get degree Friday

Miami University of Oxford, Ohio, lists 762 candidates for degrees at informal commencement exercises climaxed the summer quarter tomorrow at 3 p.m. in Millett Hall.

Ron Jeffrey Matson, 55 Janday Lane, is a candidate for the degree of bachelor of arts. Speaker for the commencement will be John D. Yeck, Dayton business executive and civic leader, a 1934 graduate of Miami. He is a partner in the Yeck Brothers Group of Dayton, which provides marketing and advertising services to manufacturers.

In the informal commencements for the summer, fall and winter quarters, Miami has no academic procession. Caps and gowns are not worn. Attendance is optional, and those who wish may come back for the formal commencement in June.

Special features of the informal commencements include the opportunity for graduates to sit with their families, instead of in a class group, and the suggestion that each graduate invite a favorite professor who will be identified by a lapel flower and a special miniature diploma serving as identification badge.

The list of candidates includes 404 for the bachelor's degree, 327 for master's degrees, 11 for two-year associate degrees and 20 for doctor's degrees.

Attends Bank School session

Ernest Karandjef Jr. of the Granite City Trust & Savings Bank is among 1,652 students-bankers from 42 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations who have completed the mid-August two-week residence session of the 30th annual Graduate School of Banking at the University of Wisconsin in Madison.

The school, sponsored by the Central States Conference, consisting of the bankers' associations of 16 Midwestern states, requires attendance for two weeks in each of three years for graduation. A total of 956 seniors received diplomas at the school's 1974 graduation exercises.

The Graduate School of Banking is one of the many schools, short courses and conferences sponsored annually at the University of Wisconsin as educational services for all citizens.

Attendance at the 1974 Graduate School of Banking enabled its students not only to meet a large number of bankers from all over the country, but also to hear the school's lecturers, consisting of over 140 experts from all parts of the nation. The lecturers are recognized authorities in banking, economics, government, law and industrial, agricultural and financial problems.

Venice ok's new tax levy

The Venice City Council Tuesday night approved a new 1974 tax levy of $504,000, an increase of $55,233 over last year's levy of $448,767.

The new levy calls for a tax extension of $125,000 in the general fund, and a total of $379,668 in the city's ten special tax levy accounts.

Most of the increase is in the special accounts, whose total of $379,668 is $53,443 higher than the $326,225 levied for special funds a year ago.

Special account levies, compared to those of last year in parenthesis, are:

Street and Bridge $37,500 ($37,000); Police $56,250 ($55,500); Audit $800 ($875); street lighting $11,000 ($9,000); fire protection $60,000 ($59,200); garbage collection $75,000 ($59,633); police pensions $50,918 ($40,318); public library $45,000 ($40,879); municipal retirement $42,000 ($29,000); civil defense $1,200 (none).
In addition, the council approved a resolution establishing an additional tax levy of $7,500 for the working cash fund. Under revised state law, working cash fund financing is separate from the regular tax levy.

The aldermen authorized a transfer of $40,000 from the McKinley Bridge reserve account to the city's 1974 flood disaster account to enable payments for sewer break repairs.

Venice expects to receive reimbursement of these funds in federal disaster allotments based on the cost of city sewer repairs.

Terry Motes found dead

Air Force Sgt. Terry S. Motes, 21, a former Granite City resident and son of Lindell Motes of Granite City, was found dead in his car in Collinsville at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday. Police said death was due to carbon monoxide poisoning.

Officers reported that a hose was attached to the exhaust pipe of his car and extended through a window.

The body was discovered about five hours after Motes was reported missing to Madison police by his father-in-law, Virgil Wicker, 11114 Madison Ave. Wicker told police that Mr. Motes had left for Scott Air Force Base and had not been heard from since.

The car in which Mr. Motes was found was parked about 75 feet south of Route 159 at the entrance to Lakeside Cemetery at Collinsville.

While a resident of Granite City, Mr. Motes lived at 1959 Poplar St.

He and his family were visiting here with his father in Granite City and his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Wicker in Madison.

Sgt. Motes entered the Air Force in May 4, 1972, and was currently stationed at Patrick AFB, Fla. He was a member of Cape Canaveral, Fla., Baptist Church.

The local serviceman was born in St. Louis and was a lifelong resident of Granite City before entering service.

Other survivors include his wife, Mrs. Marsha Kay Motes; a daughter, April Dawn Motes; one son, Terry Shawn Motes; and a brother, Bobby Motes. Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Miss Jean Smart becomes Mrs. Charles L. Fulford

The Rev. Arthur J. Short officiated at a double ring ceremony at 6 p.m. on Aug. 10 at Emanuel Baptist Church, uniting in marriage Miss Jean Smart, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Smart, 169 Voight Place, and Charles L. Fulford, 2513 Madison Ave.

Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fulford, Rural Route Three, Columbia, Ill.

Nuptial selections "We've Only Just Begun" and "Theme from Love Story" were played by organist, Mrs. Sandra Dillard.

Mr. Smart escorted his daughter down the white carpeted aisle and gave her in marriage. She selected a organza bridal gown designed in Empire style with an A-line skirt.

Chantilly lace and ribbon accented the fitted bodice and short puff sleeves and formed the high standup collar. A pearl headpiece held in place her shoulder length veil of illusion, edged in matching lace. She held a cascade of white carnations, red roses, red baby breath and ivy.

Mrs. Diane McGinnis served as matron of honor. Miss Kathy Smart, the bride's sister, Mrs. Diane Smart, Mrs. Vickie Eugene, both sisters-in-law of the bride, and Miss Robin Fitzhugh were the bridesmaids. Julie McGinnis, the flower girl, carried a basket of pink carnations.

All wore floor length dresses of chiffon over taffeta in rainbow colors of pink, green, yellow, blue and apricot created with Empire waistlines and puff sleeves.

Delicate lace formed a decorative trim on the bodices and edged the short sleeves. Their colonial bouquets consisted of multi-colored carnations festooned with streamers in the wedding colors.

Serving as ringbearer was Robert Eugene.

Charles McGinnis attended the groom as best man. Bill Smart, the bride's brother, Rick Bilzing, a cousin, Bill Peterson and Jim Eugene were groomsmen. Frankie Smart seated the guests.

Lighting the candles were Brenda Wood and Eugene Smart.

Mr. Smart was attired in a light blue dotted swiss gown and jacket ensemble. The groom's mother, Mrs. Fulford, appeared in a pale pink formal length dress. Both mothers wore red carnation corsages.

A reception was given at the Polish Hall in Madison following the service. Betty Ann Smart presided over the guest book.

Mrs. Barbara Fulford hosted a rehearsal dinner on the evening preceding the wedding in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Eugene at the Greenboro Trailer Court.

The bride is a graduate of Granite City High School North. The groom was graduated from Cahokia High School and is now employed at Monsanto Co. in Sauget, Ill.

Following a wedding trip to the Ozarks, the couple will reside in Granite City.

Out-of-town guests here for the wedding were Mrs. Pauline Anderson of Russellville, Ark. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sirok and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith, all of St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Henderson, Fairmont City and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wortmann of Caseyville.

Missionary to speak at service

The Rev. Irvin E. Rutherford, missionary to South Vietnam, will be guest speaker Sunday at both the 10 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. Worship Services at First Assembly of God Church, 24th Street and Grand Avenue, the Rev. C. Dale Edwards, pastor, announced.

Rev. Rutherford and his wife Linda will participate in establishing Teen Challenge, a rehabilitation program for teenage heroin addicts, in Saigon, South Vietnam. The South Vietnamese government has donated property in the population center of Saigon on which Teen Challenge is building a 50-bed rehabilitation facility to provide help for the approximately 30,000 Vietnamese heroin addicts.

In preparation for this work, Rev. Rutherford has served 12 years with the Teen Challenge ministry. Six years in Dallas-Fort Worth, Tex. and the past six years as executive director in San Antonio Teen Challenge, San Antonio, Tex.

He will share his future ministry in Saigon at the special missions rally. Pastor Edwards invited the public to attend.

Nixon career marked by peaks and valleys

Richard Milhous Nixon, a man both of great strengths and weaknesses, leaves the White House with a storied political career behind him — 28 years of triumphal peaks and sometimes seemingly hopeless valleys.

The deepest of the valleys, of course, was the Watergate affair whose revelations drove the President to resign.

The 37th president of the United States in 1972 won re-election by the largest popular vote margin in American political history — the highest peak. Yet a year later he was defending himself against impeachment and a year after that had to step down to avoid it — the deepest valley of them all.

To understand the man who is leaving office two and one-half years before his second term expires, you must look at the years and events which charted a sometimes stumbling yet inevitable path to the White House.

Mr. Nixon didn't enter the political arena until he was 33, after a stint at Whittier College in his native California, graduation with a law degree from Duke University, a law practice in Whittier, marriage to Thelma Catherine (Pat) Ryan, a high school teacher, and finally a World War II tour in the Navy. He tried the Office of Price Administration before joining the Navy but was frustrated by bureaucratic fiddling.

Mr. Nixon's 1946 candidacy for the House of Representatives in the then 12th California congressional district came at a fortuitous time, for 100 members of the district's Republican clubs were looking for somebody to beat Democrat H. Jerry Voorhis, a 10-year incumbent.

Mr. Nixon, still in the Navy and stationed behind a Washington desk, heard about the GOP game plan from friends. On a weekend he flew to California and talked with Republican leaders in the 12th District. A few days later he was selected as the underdog candidate to come to grips with Voorhis.

The race cost him the $4,000 he and Pat had saved from his Navy pay. Mr. Nixon won by an impressive 15,494-vote margin in a district that had been comfortably Democratic for years.

Already Mr. Nixon was becoming a tough political fighter. Voorhis later called him "quite a ruthless opponent," but the new congressman described the campaign as a "very honest debate on the issues."

Two years later Mr. Nixon won reelection without a November contest, grabbing both parties' nominations under California's then unique cross-filing law.

Still a virtual unknown in Congress, Mr. Nixon first attracted national attention during the celebrated Alger Hiss case. Hiss, a former State Department official, was accused by an ex-Communist Party member, Whittaker Chambers, of having belonged to the Communist Party and of having passed government information to Russian agents in the 1930s. Several members of the state disbanded House Un-American Activities Committee were ready to drop the case after Hiss vehemently denied the charges. But Mr. Nixon persisted. Hiss went to jail in 1950, convicted of perjury in a federal court trial.

By then Mr. Nixon was a national figure and a hero to those who suspected Communist infiltration into the United States.

The Hiss case was the first of the "Six Crises" described in Mr. Nixon's 1962 book.

By now the young ex-Navy man thought he was ready for the Senate, after contributing in the House to the Marshall Plan to aid postwar Europe and to the Taft-Hartley Act which wrote new labor-management rules for the nation.

He ran against and defeated a former educator, Helen Gahagan Douglas, in 1950, but not until the end of a bitter campaign which saw him accusing Mrs. Douglas of being a Communist.

By now Mr. Nixon was becoming known among his colleagues as a rough-and-tumble fighter when it came to political campaigning.

In 1951, when President Truman stripped Gen. of the Army Douglas MacArthur of his Far East command, Mr. Nixon defended the general and sponsored a Senate resolution of confidence in MacArthur. This drew the lasting enmity of Truman.

Mr. Nixon ran afoul of his first real political trouble in 1952 after Dr. Dwight D. Eisenhower selected him as his running mate. The campaign scarcely was under way when the vice presidential candidate found himself in the headlines with the disclosure of a $18,000 "slush" fund from California businessmen.

Some GOP leaders wanted Eisenhower to drop Nixon. But he defended himself on national television — then a new political weapon — explaining his personal finances down to Pat's cloth coat and the family dog, Checkers.

He stayed on the ticket, but later listed that incident as the second crisis in his book.

As Gen. Eisenhower's running mate, Mr. Nixon continued his anti-Communist stance, calling Adlai Stevenson, the general's 1952 Democratic opponent: "Adlai, the appeaser who got his Ph.D. from Dean Acheson's college of cowardly Communist containment."

Acheson was secretary of state under Truman, the outgoing chief executive.

After victory, the new president sent Mr. Nixon as his emissary to 56 countries. They produced two more chapters in the "Six Crises" book.

When Eisenhower suffered a heart attack in 1955, Mr. Nixon presided over Cabinet and National Security Council meetings, held news conferences and made public addresses.

The general called him "the most valuable member of my team" and it became evident that Mr. Nixon was his heir apparent. After two terms as vice president, he won the 1960 GOP presidential nomination from New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Then came the televised debates with Sen. John F. Kennedy that year.

Mr. Nixon was beaten by a slim margin and even his poor showing during the debates that helped to lose the election.

The debates climaxed the Nixon book. The defeat by

Iron poisoning may kill child

Another dashes into the emergency room carrying a 2-year-old child who is lying there, twenty, groggy, and covered all over with lumpy, lumpy vomitus. His diaper drips with green, green, green, foul-smelling stool. Quickly the doctor asks, "What did he take?"

"Mother takes a bottle of pills from her pocket. 'I think he got into these. They're the iron pills I take for anemia,' she said."

Poisoning with iron tablets and vitamins containing iron are the fourth most common cause of poisoning in children under 5 years old.

Mostly treated properly and properly half the children poisoned by iron will die.

The usual source of the iron pills is the preschool child's vitamin tablets given to women during or just after pregnancy. These come in pretty packages and are often brightly colored and sugar-coated to make them attractive to patients. But this packaging also makes them attractive to kids.

branes of the stomach and intestines. So the signs of iron poisoning include stomach pain, nausea and vomiting. As the process advances, bleeding into the stomach begins. The vomitus may then contain blood which looks black and tarry, but sometimes bright red. As the process worsens, the child gets pale and shocky, sometimes losing consciousness completely.

Untreated, half the children who take too much iron may die.

Treatment relies on removing the iron from the stomach. If the child is seen by a doctor soon enough, a stomach-pump can remove the poisonous iron. Certain medicines are available to help remove the iron and neutralize it. But after removing the iron from the stomach, the main task for the doctors is to help the blood loss and diarrhea are common complaints of children taking iron by mouth. ## Do some planning for your vacation

By MARION WELLS

When you take a trip, is your schedule more packed than your suitcase? You don't have to be a globe trotter to fall into this trap. The same perilsous pace is maintained by many a hurried vacationer right here in the United States, and it can be hazardous to your health.

The rushing that has ruined so many trips begins in the planning stages. Take the time to talk honestly and openly about what each person expects of the holiday. If he wants to fish, she wants to dance and the kids want to swim — plan a trip that takes in all three.

What about personal relationships on the trip? Psychologists point out the closest of traveling companions may need "rest periods" from each other. Work toward a balance between privacy and "togetherness" which offers each the chance to do some things alone or with new friends.

To increase holiday enjoyment, also plan ahead for physical needs. For example, if you suffer from hay fever or other allergies, a letter to the appropriate state or local health department or local forest service may save you from coughing, sneezing and sniffing through your trip.

Be specific about your particular allergy, the state of your planned vacation and the area you hope to visit.

You're less apt to have a tiring trip if you start out exhausted. Try to finish your preparations a day or two before you leave. A safety check of home and car will help set your mind at rest on your trip and reduce the risk of accidents or a breakdown.

On the trip itself, too strenuous a schedule may add up to "wreck-reaction" rather than recreation. Remember that as a rule, when you cover less mileage and make fewer hotel changes, you're likely to spend less money and enjoy your trip more.

If you're driving, schedule rest stops at frequent intervals. Small children may be easier on the nerves if they're given pillows and blankets and simple games to keep them busy.

Are you prone to motion sickness? Such pastimes as card playing, reading and car games which demand close eye attention, can make it worse or bring on an attack. If you feel nauseous, fresh air may help. Roll down the window or stop the car and get out. Drugs to prevent motion sickness can also make you drowsy, so don't take such medication when driving.

The unexpected can happen on any vacation. Allow for some flexibility in your schedule. It helps to have a list of good motels and hotels along your route. One source of such information is the nearest automobile club office.

Be sure to take a look at your room before you register. Finally, be prepared for possible medical emergencies. Get the names of physicians or hospitals at the places you'll visit, especially if someone in the family has a chronic illness. Be sure you have the proper health insurance coverage and carry an identification card with essential medical information.

Ask your physician if there is any medication he would suggest you have readily available on your trip. Medication travels best in carefully labeled, unbreakable containers kept out of heat and sun, if not in a cooler. Take along a physician's signed

Peace study

A minor in Peace Studies will be offered for the first time at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville this fall.

The program will give students an opportunity to study problems of war and peace. Courses from the fields of philosophy, government, history, anthropology, psychology and economics will be included in the program.

The Problem of War and Peace, one of the required courses for the Peace Studies minor, will be team-taught during the fall quarter by professors from the departments of psychology and philosophy.

"The Peace Studies minor will be particularly useful for journalists, social studies and government majors," Ron Glespos, coordinator of peace studies, said.

The new minor is open to all undergraduates and students. Additional information is available from the School of Humanities, SIUE.

Above all, remember, foresight is much less tiring than hindsight, and it can decide if you come home rested or needing a rest.

Inflation destroys productive capital

By ARCH BOOTH
President,

U. S. Chamber of Commerce
Let's say you find yourself in the happy position of suddenly inheriting one million dollars, after estate taxes. What will you do with it?

We all have our lists of things we have always wanted to do or to have and couldn't afford. But before going on a buying spree there is another decision to make: Do you invest the money and spend only the interest, or do you spend the principal sum?

To keep things simple, let's assume the absence of inflation (a big assumption these days). If you invest the million conservatively—say at a five per cent interest rate—you will have the handsome pre-tax income of $50,000 a year for the rest of your life. When you die, the entire million dollars will still be intact to be passed along to your heirs.

On the other hand, if you start spending the principal—on your "wish list," for example—you could spend at the rate of $50,000 a year for 20 years. After that, it would all be gone.

The million is your capital. When you invest it, the interest is your return on invested capital. The situation is much the same for a business. Invested capital often takes the form of land, buildings, machines, etc., and the return on it is profit.

Now let's shift gears and look at your situation from the perspective of a tax-hungry government. The government is a decision to make a thing similar to yours. It is a tax your capital, or the return on your capital, or both, or neither.

If the government taxes your capital, the capital will eventually be used up and thereafter the government will get nothing from you (for anyway, much less).

On the other hand, if the government taxes only your income from that capital, then it can go on collecting the tax forever—for your life and, thereafter, for the lives of all those to whom the principal passes, assuming they also invest it productively.

This is the argument for not taxing capital.

Such a tax policy appears to benefit business and the wealthy, because they have most of the capital, but in the long run it benefits the government, and thus all taxpayers.

Much of the capital equipment of a business—say, complex machinery—eventually either wears out or becomes obsolete. That is, it depreciates.

The business which does not save enough to replace this equipment when the time comes is really spending its capital.

So the money a business sets aside to replace depreciated equipment is not income, or profit; it's capital.

As such, the government does not tax it. This is what is meant by such phrases as "charging depreciation," or "depreciation writeoffs."

The amount of money that a business can set aside, tax free for depreciation of a given machine (or asset) is equal to the original cost of that machine.

The time that must pass before the machine can be sold for its original cost varies with the nature of the machine and other considerations of tax policy. A shorter time period encourages businesses to spend more on modernization, and vice versa.

This system works relatively well in noninflationary periods. But what happens during severe inflation?

Let's say you bought a widget press for $25,000 ten years ago, and it is now ready for replacement.

But, thanks to inflation, a new widget press will cost $35,000. That $35,000 is pure capital. It is all going into the new machine.

But the government's tax rules let you deduct only $25,000 as capital—the original cost of the worn-out machine.

So the extra $10,000 you need to buy the new press is officially considered income, and taxed.

Thus, thanks to inflation, the government is actually taxing productive capital, even though that is not in its long-term best interest.

I am urging people to use care in the purchase and use of some school items.

A child's outer clothing possibly will be worn on dark winter mornings or evenings.

My advice is to be sure you purchase at least one item—for example, hat, scarf, gloves, boots—that is white or light in color. Washing may be a more frequent problem, but night drivers can better see a child who is wearing white.

New shoes are nice, but the slippery soles can lead to falls more easily. Scuff up the soles of new shoes before your child wears them. He'll take care of scuffing up the tops in short order, I'm sure!

Platform shoes are the rage, I'm told. But they can be dangerous on stairs or for driving—or even for walking.

If your child will be active outdoors on wet, snowy days, try to buy some water repellent garments.

If your child uses such items as scissors, compasses, protractors, rulers and other school supplies with sharp edges, be sure they are carried and stored in enclosed and protective cases.

The same advice holds true for pens and pencils and glass bottles holding paints and paints. Better yet, buy these last two items in plastic containers if available.

Lunch boxes can be another safety hazard. Be sure they have smooth edges and fasten securely. Don't pack food items in glass containers.

New Blue Uniforms being worn during the summer season by Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville security officers include "lawman's" style hats. Ready for a patrol are the department's two female officers, Daff Johnson, left, and Geraldine Bigansky.

Safety tips for students

By WILLIAM J. SCOTT
Illinois Attorney General

Students are displaying back-to-school items. New clothes, new shoes and new school supplies will be bought by a great many children and their parents.

I am urging people to use care in the purchase and use of some school items.

My advice is to be sure you purchase at least one item—for example, hat, scarf, gloves, boots—that is white or light in color. Washing may be a more frequent problem, but night drivers can better see a child who is wearing white.

These are just a few common sense safety warnings to help your child—and you—have a safe, worry-free school year.

Warn your children that canned treats with pop tops or lids may have sharp edges; if these items are a must, the lids should not be licked when opened.

Avoid packing carbonated drinks or aerosol cans that could explode.

When you buy thermos-insulated bottles, get ones labeled "safe for children." Always instruct children to check for breakage before drinking.

If your child must walk to school along a street without sidewalks, instruct him always to walk on the side FACING traffic.

If he rides a bike to school, check for proper reflectors—front, rear and sides—and a headlight in working order.

Also, check breaks, skid-resistant pedals, and proper bike size, and be sure the bike is in good repair.

A new item—the bike flag or pennant—helps your child be seen by drivers and may be a good idea. Be sure your child knows the "bicycle rules of the road" and that he locks his bike when not in use.

These are just a few common sense safety warnings to help your child—and you—have a safe, worry-free school year.

Sr. Citizen tax exemption for federal meals

Gov. Dan Walker during the weekend signed House Bill 2125 making senior citizens eligible for about $100,000 in additional tax relief.

The bill exempts the federal nutrition program for the elderly from the state sales tax so that senior citizens do not have to pay the sales tax on their cash contributions for the federal meals.

Gov. Walker said, "This is an important day for senior citizens."

"Older people are, for the most part, the ones hardest hit by inflation. Because most of them are on fixed incomes, they need help more than most other groups."

Under the Older Americans Act of 1965, federal grants were made to individuals or groups for providing meals to the elderly. A schedule of suggested voluntary contributions for the meals is provided by the federal government.

Bill 2125 exempts those who provide the meals—and thus those who make the contributions—from the requirement to pay the sales tax.

Art sessions for students in 1975

Talented high school artists from Illinois and other states may apply for the 1975 Allerton Art Schools, conducted by the University of Illinois at Allerton House, the U. of I. conference center near Monticello.

Three week-long sessions will be held, and students may register for the one of their choice. They are July 6-12, July 13-19 or July 20-26.

The Allerton Art Schools have completed their 26th season. They are conducted by the University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign Campus Office of Continuing Education and Public Service, with cooperation from the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs.

The teaching faculty, the Allerton House and Allerton Park facilities, and the counseling staff are furnished by the university. Prof. Walter M. Johnson, director, Continuing Education in Visual Arts, is in charge of instruction. A representative of the Federation is guest director-in-residence.

For a number of years, IFWC units sponsored all students who attended the Allerton Art Schools, providing tuition scholarships and other assistance to pupils selected from their areas. Some such IFWC scholarships still are available.

However, the program has been expanded. Now any qualified student, from Illinois or elsewhere, can attend.

Illinois art students can apply for IFWC scholarships through their local Federated Women's Clubs or by writing to Mrs. Isaac A. Loose, chairlady, 341 Anne St., Illinois, Ill., 62339.

Students from outside Illinois as well as Illinois students not receiving scholarships from the IFWC, may apply directly to Dr. Warren Wilhelm Jr., director, Conferences and Institutes, 116 Illinois Hall, University of Illinois, Champaign, Ill. 61820. Each application should be accompanied by a recommendation from the student's school or private art teacher, and by a $25 deposit.

Deadline for all applications is May 1, Dr. Wilhelm said.

Students with IFWC scholarships also must pay their own $10 registration fees upon arrival at Allerton.

The fee for those not on IFWC scholarships is $110, including the $25 deposit, for room, board and instruction during the entire week. This can come from the student's own pocket or from a scholarship from some source other than the IFWC—such as a school, club, civic or educational organizations.

All students are responsible for their own transportation to and from Allerton.

Nameeki park proposed

Hopes for a park in the Doherty Slough area, along Angela Drive, were raised last week during a meeting of the Nameeki Township Board of Aldermen by Mrs. Helen Hawkins, resigning health officer.

In a letter to the board, Mrs. Hawkins noted that Harry Miller, 4712 Warnock Ave., has indicated he will deed two lots in the area to the township or county for a small park.

Mrs. Hawkins was present at the meeting and explained that Miller wants no payment for his land unless other Doherty Slough residents decide to sell their property for park purposes in the near future, at which time, he would like to be paid a fair price for the land.

She said, "This could give us a good start on a little park there."

Louis Whitwell, township supervisor, commented that the township has no funds for parks but that the county would be interested.

Whitwell also is a Madison County Board member and is chairman of the county education and recreation committee, which oversees park programs.

It was indicated that easements already have been obtained for a ditch to drain the property. Whitwell said joint funding of a ditch by the township, county and state may be possible to drain not only that property, but also surrounding property.

Whitwell agreed to investigate the proposal further and to discuss it with the county education and recreation committee.

A township resident complained that the intersections of Harrison Avenue and Morrison Lane with the Route 203 widening and construction area are nearly impassable due to large holes. He asked that the township highway department repair the intersections.

Whitwell repeated that roads are the responsibility of Township Highway Commissioner Albert Bell and that he is powerless to assist.

Whitwell explained that Route 203 approaches are state right-of-way and the contractor for the improvement project, Calhoun Construction Co. is responsible in the construction contract for keeping the Morrison and Harrison crossings in good condition.

"The contractor says he won't put any money into it. He's going to tear the whole road out and rebuild it," Whitwell added.

Bell said he has been urging persons who complain to call or write the state highway division in an attempt to have pressure brought on the contractor to keep the approaches in repair.

It was noted that, in the past, Bell has used a township grader

Also listed is a presentation on the process for alternative plan formulation by D. P. Lijesen, manager of water resources and energy systems of Intansa, Inc. the Metro Study evaluation contractor.

The trustees agreed to send a letter to the state highway division urging that the approaches be maintained.

A complaint also was heard about a fire hydrant, at Benning Street and Harrison Avenue, which does not work. Bell said the hydrant is the property of the Mitchell Public Water District and that that district is responsible for repairing it.

A resident of Harris Street in the East Madison area alleged that someone has been selling drugs to young children, who he said have been taking the drugs in the street. He said complaints to the Madison Police Department and Madison County Sheriff's Department have not solved the problem.

Whitwell agreed to accompany a representative of the neighborhood to a meeting with County Sheriff John Maerz.

Whitwell noted that a suit by Nameeki Citizens for Equalized Assessment has been entered onto the court docket.

The group is alleging that the township was reassessed on the basis of fair market value while the majority of the county is being assessed on purchase price.

The complaints contend they are paying an unfair share of the tax burden. "We hope they will be successful," Whitwell commented, and added, "I hope in the next few weeks to hear some good news on that."

Bills paid by the township included $3,505 from the town fund, $1,905 from revenue sharing, $3,831 from road and bridge accounts and $8,625 from general assistance. The group's assistance bill included a repayment of $5,125 borrowed from revenue sharing.

It was reported that Richard Beck, township collector, had submitted his final payments from Nameeki Township tax collections at the town hall. The final checks were $71,365 for the town fund and $69,592 for road and bridge purposes.

Peck was commended by the town auditors for his work in rapidly collecting the taxes. It was noted that final payments are yet to be received from the Madison County Treasurer's Office for taxes collected there.

ID cards lagging behind sale of guns in Illinois

By MARY LOU MANNING
Springfield Bureau

Sale of firearms in the state is increasing but the issuance of Illinois' new identification cards is falling to show it.

A resident of Harris Street in the East Madison area alleged that someone has been selling drugs to young children, who he said have been taking the drugs in the street. He said complaints to the Madison Police Department and Madison County Sheriff's Department have not solved the problem.

Whitwell agreed to accompany a representative of the neighborhood to a meeting with County Sheriff John Maerz.

Whitwell noted that a suit by Nameeki Citizens for Equalized Assessment has been entered onto the court docket.

The group is alleging that the township was reassessed on the basis of fair market value while the majority of the county is being assessed on purchase price.

The complaints contend they are paying an unfair share of the tax burden. "We hope they will be successful," Whitwell commented, and added, "I hope in the next few weeks to hear some good news on that."

of cards being issued," Lotts, criminal justice information administrator, said during the weekend.

In 1987, the Illinois General Assembly passed the law which makes it mandatory for all persons who own a gun to carry an ID card. It became effective in July 1988, and over 800,000 cards were issued the first year.

The cards are issued for a five-year period, and the renewal process began last year.

Lotts believes failure to renew the cards accounts for a large part of the decrease.

information on the aircraft was available at the Springfield IRS district office," he added.

Journalism workshop set

Edmund Hasse, assistant professor in the mass communications department at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, will be a consultant for a journalism workshop at Greenville College Aug. 29-30. The workshop opens Aug. 29.

Hasse earned two degrees at the University of Missouri, Columbia, and a master of arts degree from SIU at Carbondale, a former bureau manager for United Press International and editor and assistant publisher of All Florida Magazine, Hasse has served as assistant director of News Services at both the Carbondale and Edwardsville campuses.

"Forms 4638 and additional

"Last year marked the beginning of renewing cards, and some people just aren't doing it," he commented.

Other factors enter into the picture. For example, Lotts feels there is evidence that some retail stores are not enforcing the law properly.

"Before a person can legally purchase a gun, he must show his ID card," he explained. "In some cases, this is not being required."

Another reason for non-compliance with the law is the unpopularity of it.

"Many persons just feel that it is unconstitutional to require them to obtain a card," Lotts said. The law was passed after a battle in the General Assembly and over the objections of some sportsmen.

However, during the hunting season, the applications begin to surge.

"We really have a boom then," he continued, "with about 60,000 to 85,000 applications coming in." Squirrels are now in season, with doves coming in in October.

To apply for, or renew, an ID card, the applicant must fill out an application, attach a new photo and submit $5 to the Firearms Owners Identification Section.

Failure to renew the card results in an automatic cancellation, with renewal coming on the birthday month.

"We are returning about six percent of the applications for a number of reasons," the administrator said. "Either they haven't sent the fee or photo, haven't notarized or signed the application, or failed to answer all of the questions."

There are still a few kinks in the system.

For example, on the application questions pertaining to convicted felons, confinement to a penitentiary or mental institution and addiction to narcotics are difficult to confirm, since much of this information remains confidential.

"We are in the process of revising the statements to make it easier to enforce," Lotts said. Failure to comply with the law carries a maximum fine of $1,000.

Minors under 18 years of age may apply if the application is signed by a parent or guardian.

Steel employee costs top $9 an hour

Domestic steel industry employment costs for hourly workers climbed another 20 cents an hour during June. The American Iron and Steel Institute said this week that these costs totaled $9.19 an hour in June, an increase of 77 cents an hour in two months.

The 1973 average for such costs was $7.68 an hour. The figures include the cost of fringe benefits.

In June, the number of persons engaged in production and marketing of steel also rose sharply, reaching its highest total so far this year. During the month, 519,500 such persons were on steel company payrolls—an increase of 7,000 over the previous month.

During June, steel producers paid out $654,710,000 in wages and salaries, bringing the total through the first half of 1974 to $3,782,078,000.

Total employment costs consist of wages; the costs of employee benefits such as pensions, insurance and supplemental unemployment benefits; the non-payroll portion of savings and vacation plan costs; and legally required payroll taxes.

CHURCH SCHOOL ENTERED Two cases of soft drinks were found that were known to be missing from St. Margaret's School, 1900 St. Clair Ave., after a burglary which was reported Monday. The birth window to the boiler room was pried open to gain entry. A server room door was pried open and the room ransacked. A door to the cafeteria was damaged, but not opened, officials said.

May add dam to Silver Creek flood control plan

Congressman Melvin Price has received an update on the proposed Silver Creek flood control project from the Army Corps of Engineers.

Col. Thorwald Peterson, district engineer, advised Rep. Price that "results of preliminary studies indicated that the optimum plan of improvement could involve a reservoir in the northern part of the basin to serve the purposes of flood control, water supply and recreation, and levees in the urban areas of Mascoutah.

Lebanon and Scott Air Force Base." Four alternative reservoir sites are now being drilled to determine the adequacy of subsoil conditions for placement of a dam.

"Additional features of the plan could include removal of the logjams near Highway 50 and green-belt corridors," Col. Peterson said.

Price was advised that in two or three months the Corps of Engineers will conduct a public meeting to explain its findings to residents and obtain their opinions of the alternative plans.

Rep. Price returned to Illinois to participate in Lebanon's centennial activities.

He attended a ceremony in Horner Park where the new Lebanon city flag and the bicentennial community flag were raised for the first time.

The local congressman called the double flag raising symbolic of Lebanon's role in the building of the nation. He praised the city's pioneer heritage and its dedication to learning through McKendree College.

"Lebanon has met the test of history," Rep. Price said.

He declared that the city "cannot help but play an important role in the future development of Southern Illinois."

In remarks on the House floor, Rep. Price spoke in favor of the Federal Mass Transportation Act, calling it "a solid transportation commitment to the diverse transit needs of urban and rural communities."

The bill provides $20.4 billion for a six-year mass transportation program of capital expenditures, planning, training and operating expenses.

"In a time of higher fuel costs and decreasing fuel supplies," said Rep. Price, "the need for alternative transportation is increasingly evident."

The congressman said the bill will help place rural and suburban needs into the nation's transportation network. "It will provide the means for local communities and metropolitan areas to meet the problems of public mobility," he said.

MR. AND MRS. VIKASH P. JAIN whose wedding took place at the First United Presbyterian Church. The bride is the former Miss Linda Sue Cox, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Talmouf S. Cox, 2030 Grand Ave.

Miss Linda Sue Cox and Vikash P. Jain are wed

The wedding of Miss Linda Sue Cox and Vikash P. Jain, of Chicago, was solemnized in an evening ceremony on Aug. 10 at the First United Presbyterian Church, 22nd Street and Delmar Avenue.

Pink and white carnation arrangements adorned the altar. Greenery and white satin ribbons marked the pews and lighted tapers in aisle standards decorated the sanctuary for the double-ring ceremony performed at seven o'clock by the Rev. David Maxwell.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Talmouf S. Cox, 2030 Grand Ave. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Jain of Bombay, India. In the absence of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Zimmer Jr., served as proxy parents.

Given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Cox wore a full-length ivory gown in a princess style. Pearls accented the high neckline and long-sleeved sleeves of the imported Venetian lace.

A wide lace ruff encircled the high and cathedral-length train. She carried a cascade of white roses and carnations in an arrangement with greenery.

She wore a lace headpiece to hold in place her cathedral-length veil of illusion edged with a gathered lace ruff.

Matron of honor Mrs. Robert Bookbinder, chose a blue nylon organza gown embellished with white flowers in a princess style.

The full-length dress was designed with a high collar and long full sleeves.

Bridesmaids, Mrs. Loretta Cox, a sister of the bride, Miss Janice Scarborough and Miss Deborah Waugh, were attired in identical designed dresses in pink organza.

Each attendant wore a caplet headpiece secured to a shirder-length veil and carried bouquets of pink roses and baby breath.

The flower girls, Christine, Marie and Gay Elizabeth Wright, nieces of the bride, wore solid-pink, full-skirted frocks accented with Empire waistlines marked with satin ribbons.

They also wore short veils attached to lace caps and held miniature bouquets.

The groom chose Dr. Suri Malani as his best man. Groomsmen and ushers included Michael Ward, Jimmy Vajid, Stephen David and Thomas Cox, a brother of the bride.

Glen Wright, the bride's nephew, served as ringbearer. A reception for guests was given at the Edwardsville American Legion Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Zimmer hosted a rehearsal dinner at Tempel's Steinbock.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Cox selected an ivory knit full-length Empire gown made with a high collar, long tapered sleeves. A sequin trim encircled the high rise waist and she wore lace accessories.

Mrs. Zimmer chose a mint green nylon over taffeta, long dress, designed with short sleeves, V-neckline and crescent waistline. Her accessories were also in beige tones and they both wore pink oration corsages.

After a wedding trip to the Ledges of the Four Seasons, the newlyweds are now residing in Granite City.

The former Miss Cox is a nursing student at Lewis and Clark College and will graduate in May 1975. Her husband received his masters degree in business administration at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. He is now employed as senior auditor for Buick-Oldsmobile.

Daria St. Ivany married in candlelight ceremony

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Daria St. Ivany, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles St. Ivany, 2114 Clark Ave., and Vernon Ray Stranghoener, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Stranghoener, 2239 Redman Ave., Florissant, Mo., at 7 p.m. on Aug. 3 at the Third Baptist Church, 2601 Grand Ave.

Pink satin bows marked the family pews and burning pink tapers in brass candleholders illuminated the sanctuary for the double-ring ceremony performed by the Rev. David Richardson before an altar adorned with bouquets of pink summer blossoms.

Prior to the arrival of the wedding party Jon Grindstaff played several violin selections. Musical selections, "Love Is," "One Hand, One Heart" and "The Wedding Song," were sung by soloists Mary Balcer and Barbara Schmidt. They also sang "Ode to Joy" as the bride couple left the church.

Accompanying the soloists was Alan Bogovich at the piano and Grindstaff on the guitar.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, chose a white silk organza gown with pink accents. A pink organza ruff, enhanced with hand-made silk flowers bordered the scoop neckline, and a self-fabric sash defined the Empire waist and tied in a bow at the back.

Her full skirt was fashioned with a deep flounce of pink silk organza that formed a cathedral train accented with yellow centered daisies, roses and green leaves.

She wore a large pink organza ruffled brim picture hat with pink flowers tucked in pink and white tiers of bridal illusion draped around the crown and trailing over her shoulders.

Her colonial bouquet of pink Sweetheart roses, Elegant pink carnations with stephanotis and baby breath was festooned with ribbon streamers.

Miss Julie Coffeen, maid of honor, and Miss Cheryl Graham, Mrs. Janice St. Ivany, the bride's sister-in-law, Miss Lisa Stranghoener, the groom's sister, and Miss Narcisse Bogosian, bridesmaids, selected identical formal-length dresses.

Their Empire style gowns featured round necklines enhanced with butterfly collars and sleeves and A-line skirts.

Each attendant wore a pink picture hat trimmed with fresh pink daisies and carried baskets filled with mixed flowers.

A white bridal designed frock complemented with pink accessories was worn by the flower girl, Dawn Carver, a niece of the groom.

Serving as ringbearer was David Egart.

Attending the groom were Dale Henselmeier as best man and Dave Vasil, Steve Mellie, Steve Stranghoener and Mark St. Ivany, brothers of the bride and groom, as groomsmen.

Seating the guests were Todd Witham, Bob Nessler and Craig Watkins.

Guests were registered at a reception held at Mr. Yac's Restaurant in St. Louis by Mary Balcer.

Mr. and Mrs. Stranghoener, parents of the groom, were hosts at a rehearsal dinner at Charlie's Restaurant.

The newlyweds have departed for Washington, D.C., where they will reside, following a wedding trip to Ocean City, Md.

Both mothers selected formal-length gowns for the wedding. Mrs. St. Ivany wore a pink chiffon dress designed with long sheer sleeves, high round neckline edged in tiny white lace that was repeated on the cuffs and marked the Empire waistline. Her corsage was of white Sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Stranghoener was attired in an organza gown featuring a mint green sleeveless bodice with a slightly gathered skirt of pink, green and white strip organza complemented with a gardenia corsage.

The bride graduated in June from William Woods College with a B.A. degree in Sociology. Her social sorority is Alpha Chi Omega.

Her husband is a 1973 summa cum laude graduate of Westminster College and is a second-year law student at Georgetown University Law Center, Washington, D.C. His fraternity is Kappa Alpha.

Farrance-Jones wedding at St. John United

Miss Deborah K. Jones, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Jones, 12 Briarcliff Drive, and Dennis M. Farrance, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Farrance, 1821 Spring Ave., were united in marriage at St. John United Church of Christ. The officiating minister, the Rev. Carl Eschenbrenner, performed the double-ring ceremony at 7 o'clock on the evening of July 13. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a demibell silhouette white polyester organza gown enlaced with Venice lace and ribbon trim. Fashioned with a high neckline and renaissance sleeves, the dress featured a detachable train. She wore a Juliet cap to hold in place a melody-length veil bordered in iridescent lace. Her bouquet was an arrangement of summer flowers. Matron of honor, Mrs. Robert Burris, a cousin of the bride and bridesmaid, Miss Robin Witt, and her cousin, Mrs. Gary Cockrill and Mrs. Edward Byrne, both sisters of the groom, selected rainbow-colored gowns. The dresses were created in doddie swiss over taffeta and were complemented with picture hats and carnation bouquets in shades to match their attire. Michelle and Jeffery Farrance, a sister and brother of the groom, served as the flower girl and ringbearer. She also wore a dotted swiss frock. Serving as best man was Mike Barry. Paul Jones, a brother of the bride, Gary Cockrill and Edward Byrne, brothers-in-law of the groom, were groomsmen. Escorting the guests to their seats were Brad Harmon and Robert Parmley. Immediately following the ceremony a reception was given in the Moose Lodge, 19th and Adams streets. The newly married couple will reside in Granite City. A 1969 graduate of Granite City High School, the bride is now employed at George Lindsey's Restaurant. Her husband was graduated in 1970 from Granite City High School and works at Granite City Steel.

Amendatory veto process should be limited in scope, lest the state lose the value of its traditional Assembly legislative hearings and debate

As has been pointed out in news reports and in the Public Notice column of the classified section, Quad-City and other Illinoisans will vote Nov. 5 on a proposed amendment to Article IV of the 1970 Illinois Constitution.

The separate blue ballot asks for a "yes" or "no" vote on the amendment, which is intended to limit the governor's amendatory veto power to specific recommendations correcting technical errors or matters of form.

If approved by voters, Article IV-Section 9 will outline the veto procedure regarding Illinois General Assembly legislation as follows:

"The governor may return a bill together with specific recommendations for the correction of technical errors or matters of form to the house in which it originated.

"The bill shall be considered in the same manner as a vetoed bill. If, however, the specific recommendations are accepted by a record vote of a majority of the members elected to each house, the bill shall be presented again to the governor.

"If he certifies that the acceptance conforms to his specific recommendations, the bill shall become law. If he does not so certify, the governor shall return it as a vetoed bill to the house in which it originated."

The new state constitution, first to be enacted in Illinois in a century, properly included an amendatory veto provision, but it has been interpreted broadly by both former Governor Richard B. Ogilvie and present Governor Dan Rostenkowski. There are members of different political parties, and since the constitution applies to all future governors as well, the issue to be decided Nov. 5 is not essentially partisan in nature.

No doubt some of the amendatory vetoes have been wisely drawn during the 1970-74 period, but a strong case can be made for limiting such authority to the correction of words, phrases and figures.

Some power to correct is justified. Proposed laws often are adopted in haste as a session draws to a close. In many instances, bills that are composites of Senate and House thinking are not actually available for detailed perusal when legislators are casting their votes.

But bills frequently have been, in effect, rewritten by a stroke of the gubernatorial pen, based only on the governor's opinion and on factual summaries prepared by one or several of his assistants. This has nullified the impact of the legislative process and has disregarded the detailed testimony of advocates and opponents at lengthy hearings.

If such sweeping lawmaking power is to be vested in a single office, then the Assembly might as well be scrapped and its cost eliminated. We favor harnessing the amendatory veto process with reasonable limitations, and we suggest a "yes" vote on this fall's blue ballot.

Vital that four-township sewer program be expedited by community, state

Since the four-township sanitary and interceptor sewer program is of vital importance to the present and future of the Quad-City community, it is refreshing to receive word that it has been funded by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1975.

With 75 per cent of the cost met from state funds, lines are to be installed in Chouteau, Nameoki and Venice Townships. They will be connected to the Granite City secondary sewage treatment plant to assure pure discharge into the Mississippi River.

The local portion will be financed by revenue bonds, retired with the fees from sewer users.

The second phase of planning, engineering and design should be carried out as rapidly as possible by Madison County, the state and the participating townships so that there will be no further delay of construction. By such prompt follow-through, it may be possible to complete the project at close to the advance cost estimate of $12 million.

Will Ford avert party disaster?

WASHINGTON — Among the many questions prompted by Richard Nixon's resignation is the political impact that President Ford will have on the November elections.

Strategists at the Republican and Democratic National Committees here acknowledge that, as one Republican aide put it, "Ford has a 'let-it-ride' effect on the party which needs to forestall the disaster that has been predicted for this party."

Both camps fully expect Ford to barnstorm the nation as much as his new duties will permit this fall, bolstering GOP candidates, workers and voters whose spirits have sagged under the weight of Watergate and the impeachment process.

An aide to Democratic Chairman Robert Strauss said one effect of President Ford's political activity would be whether they be on-the-road campaigning or simply pep talks from the Oval office — might be to spare a larger-than-expected Republican voter turnout.

"This could hurt us in those normally Republican states where we think our best chances stemmed from GOP voter apathy combined with a major Democratic campaign effort," the aide said.

The Democrats have targeted 46 of the 107 Republican seats in the House, for example, as worthy of special efforts.

"I don't think those numbers will mean much now," the Strauss aide commented. "With Nixon out and Ford in, it's going to be a different ball game. The question is how much different."

But the Democrats feel they hold one clear advantage

Founding faners provided for quick transition

By JOHN PINKERMAN

As this agonizing but historic time, one aspect of Richard Nixon's resignation stands above all others — the wisdom of the Founding Fathers of America who provided for instantaneous transition of government during the high value of the dollar of those days.

He was lucid almost to the point of silence and his simple answer to those who asked America to forgive European allies their wartime debts came out like this: "They hired the money, didn't they?"

Coolidge managed the nation into reasonable prosperity and he was tough on law and order. This recalled his 1919 ways as governor and Massachusetts and his triumph over Boston police strikers. On the police strike in Springfield, Mass., he said: "There is no right to strike against the public safety by anybody anywhere anytime, rather than pessimism."

Those of us of the "getting older" generation, for instance, may recall four such transitions — times of crisis when vice presidents with neither charisma nor outstanding reputation moved into the presidency and continued the nation on its way without pause.

I recall vividly today the day of Aug. 2, 1923, when my grandmother told me to run up to the "Delacour house" in Springfield, Conn. and to hurry back with information as to whether the Delacour flag was at half staff. (The Delacour I later learned were the only family in our section of town with a flag.) I did run the mile, the flag was at half staff and I ran back home to grandmother and waiting neighbors with the word.

"That means it's true," grandmother said. "President Harding died." A rumor had been confirmed, with the confirmation there was some dismay and some concern how little-known President Calvin Coolidge would handle the job as president.

Harding had died in San Francisco en route back from a trip to Alaska. A trip he had taken to a refuge from Teapot Dome scandals in his Plymouth, Vt., home, the oath administered by his father, a justice of the peace. He had been praised and denounced for the "bomb" decision, but it did end the war and it did save perhaps a million U.S. casualties that would have resulted in an invasion of Japan, or a costly and bloody Marshall Plan, given the name of then Secretary of State George C. Marshall, a plan to rebuild Europe. He also had the courage to fire Gen. of the Army Douglas MacArthur, a national hero, when MacArthur defied Truman's orders as commander-in-chief.

Most of us still have a vivid memory of the next transition in the White House.

I was at work on a news column on Nov. 22, 1963, when assassination bullets fired by Lee Harvey Oswald struck down President John F. Kennedy. A joyful and triumphant motorcade through Dallas, Lyndon B. Johnson was vice president at the time and he moved in general low esteem. He was too much of Again on April 12, 1945, tragedy took a U.S. president with the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt in Warm Springs, Ga. I was at that time with thousands of other Americans fighting in the European theater. It was difficult to think of Washington in the face of Japanese bullets not many yards distant. In retrospect, military historians have told us of the concern of many Americans because "lightweight" Vice President Harry Truman was taking over the reins of the presidency at a most critical time — wars in Europe and the Pacific with all attendant problems at home.

Also in retrospect, "lightweight" President Truman didn't do too badly. He succeeded Roosevelt the same day, the oath administered by Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone. He was a man of great wisdom far beyond that expected even by his closest friends.

He made the decision to drop the atomic bomb on Hiroshima and Nagasaki less than four months after he took office. He was the only known bomb project experience in community cooperation.

Separate campaign committee led to 'overkill'

WASHINGTON — For five and a half years he reigned as President of the United States and the leader of the Western World. He struck out boldly into uncharted areas of foreign affairs — détente with the Soviet Union, an opening to Communist China, a restoration of cordial relations with the United Arab Emirates, bordering Israel. He even strode a time or two into new ground at home with mixed success, and spoke of his elation — a strategic arms agreement between the world's two major nuclear powers, based on essential equivalence in overall strength.

The final chapters in this effort still remain to be written. Matching the China and USSR initiatives in strategic boldness was the President's drive to seize the opportunities opened by the October, 1973, Arab-Israeli war and move toward a stable and lasting Middle East peace.

At Mr. Nixon's behest, Kissinger conducted marathon negotiations in Arab capitals that produced a pullback of Israeli forces from captured Egyptian and Syrian lands, clearing the way for peace.

But this, too, is an unfinished story with many complex chapters yet to be written. In the meantime, however, by a single stroke of policy, the Nixon administration loosened the Soviet Union's grip on Egypt and weakened Moscow's position in the Middle East.

It is difficult to find anything in Richard Nixon's domestic programs to match his successful implementation of sharing federal revenue with the states. General revenue sharing was not the other half of the program was not. It provided for a lumping together of many existing categorical aid programs into various forms of special revenue sharing that states and counties could use as they desired.

A much more logical candidate for Mr. Nixon's top domestic achievement — and at the time he held it — was his devaluation of the U.S.

dollar, actually two devaluations of first 8, then 10 per cent, combined with inflation, combined with other foreign currencies. This freed the United States from the terrible economic stress caused by a greatly overvalued post-World War II dollar, and made recovery in U.S. trade and payments balance possible.

Mr. Nixon also acted boldly on Aug. 15, 1971, when he stepped into a growing world monetary crisis with emergency measures and later imposed wage and price controls.

They worked fine for a year and no doubt would have been successful for several more months had the President not unexpectedly removed them too soon.

Still another accomplishment of note was the ending of the draft and the beginning of a purely volunteer Army, Navy and Air Force. This move alone, combined with the Vietnam withdrawal, brought peace back to America's campuses.

Mr. Nixon piled up the largest combined peacetime budget deficits in American history in an unsuccessful search for an elixir that would right the ailing economy — a total of more than $66 billion in five budget years.

His management of the economy grayed from policy to policy, he brought on "stagflation," economic stagnation combined with inflation — then recovery, then a potential and increasingly ominous economic retreat coupled with double-digit inflation.

The energy crisis erupted he was caught unprepared.

When his first aide general, John Mitchell, was named for the President, two consecutive Supreme Court nominees who were rejected by the Senate, and a President with faith in Mitchell's judgment — one of the men who helped entangle the administration in the fatal web of Watergate.

The President surrounded himself with such men, men whose grasp of reality or institutional propriety proved an arm twister, too much a warding politician. However, he assumed the presidency almost immediately — exactly 90 minutes after Kennedy died in a Dallas hospital. He took the oath on Air Force One, the presidential plane, before takeoff for Washington and with the slain president's body in the rear of the craft.

Johnson is faulted for his handling of the Vietnam war — for getting America in deeper and for the U.S. casualties and for failing to win the war militarily. However, almost no president in history has been able to strong-arm social legislation through Congress as Johnson did.

He can be given credit for the nation's greatest advances in civil rights, in anti-poverty programs and in other laws to better the lot of the underprivileged and previously neglected Americans.

Like him or not, Johnson did take the reins and the government moved in general low esteem. He was too much of

Courts must treat all citizens alike

To the Editor:

The hearts of Americans are heavy after the resignation of President Nixon, but nevertheless we can be proud of our country. We can say, "I am an American," and not be ashamed to be identified as such.

I cannot agree with what Pres. Nixon has done, because it is a disgrace to our country. The wheels of justice must turn, regardless.

I believe that any appointed federal official should have the love of his country and the people's heart. He should by all means carry out the duties of his office in a lawful manner, and at no time violate the Constitution of the United States.

It's my firm belief that the Nixon scandals are not over, because there are others involved in this disgraceful misdeed. They should all be treated alike and made to answer in a court of law, just like any other American citizen.

The time has come for both political parties to stand up and down to business and stop experience in community cooperation.

president. It was the system devised by those wise men of the late 18th Century that made this transition possible.

And, now comes President Gerald Ford.

Nothing is to be gained at this time in rectifying the events that have caused the agony requiring Ford to assume the duties he does. Nor is anything gained either in saying Ford has been a rather undistinguished career in the House of Representatives. Or that he, like we thought Truman was, is a "lightweight."

History tells us that Ford's immediate elevation to the presidency is in character with the desires of the framers of the Constitution that there be no break in government functions and no break in the work of the highest position of leadership.

History also tells us that rather than despair over the people of our country — such as events since the Watergate burglary of June 17, 1972, these should be days of optimism. This is because the American system is a good one — and it works.

It is a time for unity that will relieve what is plaguing the people of our country — such as inflation, high interest rates and other high costs of living.

This is a job for Congress, along with the cooperation of our President, on behalf of the people of this great country.

Action of this kind is long overdue. These things are still plaguing the people and should have immediate attention.

Olympics conducted for the retarded

To the Editor:

Many citizens helped in various ways to send young people to regionals in Chicago and finals in Chicago this summer, as part of the Special Olympics for the Mentally Retarded.

Three years ago, adults from Specialized Services, which I represent, went to Chicago and many came home with medals. This climaxed a tremendous experience in community cooperation.

SIUE commencement Aug. 29

Carl D. Tubbesing, assistant professor of government and public affairs, will be the speaker at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville summer commencement exercises Aug. 29.

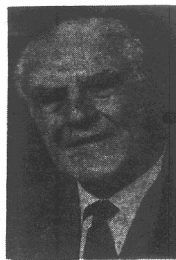

More than 900 are candidates for bachelor and graduate degrees. Commencement exercises are scheduled for 7 p.m. at the outdoor performing arts facility on the SIUE campus. Degrees will be conferred by Dr. John S. Rendeman, SIUE president.

Tubbesing joined the SIUE faculty in 1969 and is considered an expert on the U. S. Constitution. He was chosen as speaker on the basis of suggestions made by members of the graduating class. It is traditional for a member of the SIUE faculty to speak at summer commencements.

An honorary doctor of science degree will be conferred on Herbert Blumer, visiting professor of sociology at the university. He is professor emeritus of the University of California at Berkeley where he served as chairman of sociology. Blumer also has

Falls, auto mishaps take big toll among the aged

Sadly, and contrary to the poet's advice, not all elderly people "go gentle into that good night." Many die less than gently, due to accidental deaths related to their age.

Persons aged 65 or over account for one of every four accidental deaths in the United States, although they make up less than 10 per cent of the population.

Accidents are responsible for about 28,000 deaths each year among the elderly and constitute one of the leading causes of death in their age group.

As one might expect, the older the person, the greater his or her chance of dying by accident.

In 1968-69, accidental mortality among men aged 75 and over was more than twice that of men aged 65-74; a much greater rise appeared for women, as age increased.

At ages 65-74, the accident rate for men was more than twice the rate for women, and at ages 75 and over the rate for men was 25 per cent greater.

In seven of every 10 fatalities from falls, the victim is elderly.

Falls were, by far, the leading cause of accidental deaths among men at ages 65 and over, and about one half of the total at ages 75 and over. The proportions were even larger for women, nearly a third at ages 65-74 and seven-tenths at the later ages.

This sharp rise with age is undoubtedly due to a greater susceptibility to falls by the elderly because of their reduced physical capabilities.

Older people, moreover, are likely to sustain more serious injuries from an accidental fall. Such injuries often lead to post-traumatic medical complications resulting in death.

Motor vehicle accidents accounted for the second largest death rate from among persons aged 65 and over in 1968-69. At ages 65-74, they outranked every other type of accident.

While mortality from falls increased rapidly with the advance in age, deaths from motor vehicle accidents increased only slightly. At ages 75 and over, a third of these killed in motor vehicle accidents were pedestrians.

Fires and flames are a terrifying cause of accidental death among the elderly.

Because their movements may be restricted, they are more vulnerable to the hazard of having their clothing ignited by flame; and their infirmities may prevent their escape from burning buildings.

For these reasons, fires account for twice as many deaths for men and women ages 75 and over as among ages 65-74.

Inhalation and ingestion of food or other objects causing obstruction, poisoning by solids or liquids, and drowning were also serious threats to life for the aged.

All of these took a much greater toll of life among men than among women, and the dangers increase with age.

Figures from the U. S. National Health Survey show that in 1972, over four and a quarter million persons aged 65 and over suffered injuries that involved medical attendance or at least one day of restricted activity.

One out of five persons at these ages sustained a fairly serious accident during 1972. Statisticians point out that even when accidents do not necessitate hospital admission, they can sap confidence and generate insecurity and fear among the elderly.

This can decrease their mobility while causing them to grow more dependent on others. Accidents are often the cause of the decline in activity of many previously vigorous elderly people.

Cycle stolen, three arrested

Eugene Miller, 44, of 2040 Iowa St., Michael Miller, 21, Jerseyville, and William Dunham, 38, of 2027 Missouri Ave., were charged with theft after they were arrested during the weekend at 22nd Street and Missouri Avenue.

Samuel Demott, Apartment 10 at 2320 Parkside Apartments, reported to authorities that his motorcycle had been stolen. He said he came home and noticed three men in a pickup truck parked next to his motorcycle.

When Demott reached his apartment, he looked out the window and saw that his motorcycle had been loaded into the truck. The truck left at a high rate of speed.

Demott called Granite City police and officers found the truck on Missouri Avenue and made the arrests. The motorcycle was recovered from the truck.

Gardenaires club continues 'Seeds to Brazil' program

A total of 3,135 packets of different kinds of seeds, donated by local merchants and area residents, will be mailed shortly to Senora Scylla Fecury, a member of the Garden Club of Para-Missouri, Belem, South America, by the Gardenaires Garden Club.

The shipment is part of a continuing World Gardening project sponsored by the Granite City club.

Included in the latest mailing will be 1,211 vegetable seed packets, 424 herbs and 1,500 flower seed packets.

The gift seeds will be distributed by Senora Fecury to school children in Belem who plant their own gardens to augment the school lunch program.

Now in its third year of the World Gardening program, the local club sent 307 seed packets the first year and 402 packets last season.

Mrs. Mary Tarpoff, project chairman, said the Brazilian youngsters will receive sufficient seeds for their own gardens and the excess will be distributed to families in the surrounding rural area.

Since many of the people receiving the seeds are unable to read, the Brazilian government has published a comic-book type magazine with illustrated pictures showing the proper methods of planting seeds and caring for the young plants. Mrs. Tarpoff explained.

The Agrarian Institute in South America also has established a program to train struct horticulture teachers to aid in the gardening project, the chairman said.

An initial box of 423 seed packets was sent to Belem earlier this month, the club spokesman reported. Upon completion of sorting, cataloging and packaging the additional 2,712 packets, the remaining gift seeds will be mailed in two separate shipments, she said.

WWI veterans observe 20th year

The 20th anniversary of the Department of Illinois Veterans of World War I and Auxiliaries, was celebrated this week at the VFW Hall in Granite City.

About 112 attended the 1 o'clock afternoon dinner and the program which followed.

Memorial services were conducted by the first department commander, Lewis Brake of Mount Vernon, and the first state president, Mrs. Elizabeth Bergrath, of Madison.

All past department commanders and presidents were introduced and gave a short history of their year in office. They also offered eulogies for those who are deceased.

Reports were read from members unable to attend the anniversary celebration.

Messages also were heard, from Emanuel Levy of Hollywood, Fla., a past national commander, and Mrs. Agnes Eberenz of Baltimore, Md., a past national president, who conducted installation ceremonies for the original Illinois state officers at the time of the department's organization in 1954.

Among those attending the dinner celebration were representatives from barracks and auxiliaries in Moline, Rockford, Peoria, Springfield, Salem, Joliet and Mount Vernon.

A dessert course concluded the social and business activities.

Social Friday at Central Christian Central Christian Church, 2020 Johnson Road, will sponsor an "Ice Cream Social" on Friday from 5 to 8 p.m. on the church grounds, according to the pastor, Dr. L. Jim Ambis.

Served with the homemade ice cream will be cookies, cake or pie and a beverage.

Proceeds from the project will be used for various church programs, the minister said.

BACK TO SCHOOL

So summer is just about over, the kids are back in school, and while we don't like to admit it, it's possible that some children are eating better than they did at home.

If this is so, it is for one of two reasons: Either the child's family cannot afford sufficient food, or ignorance—nutritional ignorance—is depriving that family of adequate meals. Such ignorance can and does exist at all economic levels—so it's not always just a matter of money.

The Value of School Lunch
But if your child is in a school that serves school lunch, he or she has a lot going for you. And in recent years great effort has been made to extend the school lunch program to schools that do not have facilities for preparing lunches. Even breakfast programs have been put in operation.

More and more schools are being served. Airline-style, prepared meals are being brought in, and school feeding programs are increasingly providing that children receive meals without discrimination when they cannot afford to pay for them.

A bonus on school breakfast and school lunch programs is that besides giving the child a healthy meal, these programs are a practical demonstration for the pupil of the foods that make up a good meal.

When this experience is coupled led with modern nutrition education in the classroom there is promise that we are raising a generation of Americans who will know how to eat more wisely than their parents.

Nutrition is increasingly being taught in the schools in a manner to excite real interest and create motivation. It is used to be a sort of dull subject, full of facts, but now it is being taught in special units of study that are fun, relevant, and that lead to including nutrition in the teaching of mathematics, geography, social studies and particularly in helping children arrive at values that will guide them throughout their lives.

Taking Lunch To School
If you or your children prefer, for one reason or another, that they take their lunch to school, it isn't difficult to give them a balanced meal. The four-food-group formula will do it. A sandwich with meat, cheese, or, say, egg salad and a milk carton, plus fruit and bread, will give your child some kind of fruit, and/or celery or carrot sticks, or vegetable soup in a thermos. If your girls want to get fancy, make a small salad and put it in a plastic container. Then have your children buy milk at school.

To help complete the meal, give your child some kind of fruit, and/or celery or carrot sticks, or vegetable soup in a thermos. If your girls want to get fancy, make a small salad and put it in a plastic container. Then have your children buy milk at school.

The $284,325 sewage plant construction bill was paid to G. B. Tarleton Co. of St. Louis.

Aldermen raise expense accounts

Granite City aldermen voted 10-1 Monday night to increase their monthly expense allotments from $25 to $50, retroactive to May 1. Monday night, the aldermen turned down an ordinance to increase the amount to $40, with Mayor Paul Schuler's negative vote making the final tally 7-5, one vote short of the eight yes votes needed for a majority of the full council.

Alderman Sam Whitmer of the Second Ward cast the only vote against the increase Monday night. Aldermen absent were William Dallas of the First Ward, Clyde Boyd of the Third Ward and Walter Norn of the Fifth.

These voting in favor were: First Ward—Everett Morlen; Second—Frank Greenwald; Third—Roy Poulos; Fourth—R. E. Robertson and Claude Green; Fifth—Steve Basarich; Sixth—Gerald Parnley and Earl Baker; and Seventh—Emerald Dawes and Ronald Coleman.

Mayor Paul Schuler, who had voted against the $40 increase July 22, saying he did not feel it was enough money, commented Monday night, "I wish I could have voted on that one." He supported the increase to $50 during its planning.

Police probe theft of drugs

Madison authorities are investigating this week a break-in at Reese Drug Store, 301 Madison Ave., in which burglars took the store's full supply of drugs from a locked cabinet. A quantity of narcotics and pennies also was taken. The break-in was discovered Monday.

Police said the burglars forced open a transom on a door leading to upstairs apartments, then cut a hole through a wall to enter into the drug store. Gene Ramach, manager, told officers an inventory would be made to determine the extent of the drugs taken.

The burglars left behind a hand drill, bolt cutter and other tools.

Downtown area revitalization efforts meeting with success

(Following is the text of a report by Earl Harris, chairman of the Downtown Revitalization Committee of Granite City.)

(It was presented at the 1974 accountability meeting of the Fr. Cities Area Chamber of Commerce Monday evening at Holy Trinity Hall.)

I am happy to report that the primary objectives of this committee have been met.

At the outset, we recognized that many diverse needs were present and needed to be met in order to solve a total revitalization of the general area.

Suggestions for plans of attack came not only from committee members, but from other interested individuals and groups as well.

The committee set about to make some of these proposed changes a reality.

However, it soon became apparent to the chairman that we were running a "hit or miss" supposition, with no really specific plan of action.

It was our own Chamber of Commerce president, Chester Baker, who brought about our rescue.

He brought to our committee's attention the resources available from nearby Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in terms of Central Business District (CBD) planning.

This included the services of Jon Strohmeier, working under Dr. Robert Koepke.

Mr. Strohmeier, working through one of his classes at SIUE, developed a physical design project for his students.

While in reality it was an exercise for classwork, it nonetheless gave Don Strohmeier—who himself has had experience in CBD redevelopment in the private sector—clearer insight into the profile and particulars of Downtown Granite City.

It was at this juncture that your chairman proposed to Mr. Strohmeier the possibility of playing a major role in our group. His complete enthusiasm and reasonable financial demands prompted these resultant efforts:

Through largely the committee member efforts of Herb Schermer, Mr. Strohmeier was presented to the Downtown Merchants Association as one who was wholly qualified and recommended unanimously by your Revitalization Committee.

He was recommended to be the catalyst, the man of action, the motivating force to direct the Downtown in a total revival program.

A temporary committee was formed to include your chairman and some members of the committee, as well as many Downtown merchants and other interested parties.

Initially, it was recognized that it first would be necessary to raise sufficient capital to guarantee Mr. Strohmeier's salary as well as having a monetary base to work from, and to help insure the continued interest of those having a monetary investment.

It was decided that the initial monies should come from the merchants themselves, to show their faith and interest, but at the same time recognizing the necessity of the total involvement of the business world of the whole Downtown area in order to accomplish any great goals.

I must report that the merchants' efforts are meeting with great success.

While there are still remaining at this point a few but most important holdouts, and while not all contacts have been made, the conclusion that this project will go forward as proposed is all but an accomplished fact.

I feel that the work of the Downtown Revitalization Committee of the Chamber has now become the efforts of the newly-created Central Business District of the Downtown Merchants' Association.

While they welcome the personal and financial help of the Chamber of Commerce, the committee of which I am chairman should cease to function as such, so as not to become a duplication of efforts.

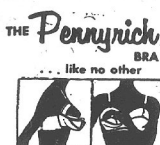

We have put ourselves out of work, and successfully so.
